All Ethiopia Is Moving To Front

(Copyright, 1935, By International News Service)

WITH THE ETHIOPIAN ARMY BETWEEN ADDIS ABABA AND DESSYE, Nov. 20.—(By courier to Addis Ababa)—Six weeks after the Italians bombed Adowa, at a moment when half the world declares the Italo-Ethiopian war is all over and the other half declares it has not yet begun, all Ethiopia is traveling to the front, and today we traveled with them.

No sight since our arrival in this country nine weeks ago has been so impressive as the view this morning of the Ethiopian army stretching ahead as far as the eye could see and extending behind until its rear is lost over the shoulder of a mountain.

Seems Disorganized

Like the army of Tamerlane, the Ethiopian host was a true movement of a whole people moving forward in an enormous horde which, to the untrained eye, seemed disorderly. Actually it had system.

There was no visible service of supply. No commissary department.

ELIZABETH ALLAN

Describing the Clark Gable romance rumors as "not only fantastic but very embarrassing" Elizabeth Allan, British film star, is pictured above as she sailed from New York for her home in England. The actress, who was reported in some quarters as the No. 1 "love" on Gable's list following announcement of a forthcoming divorce of Gable and his second wife, expected to meet her husband, W. J. O'Bryne, at Southampton.

NEW YORK, Nov. 22—Under shafts of pallid sunshine that kindled a halo around her honey-colored hair, Vera Stretz, the "icy blonde," stood briefly in general sessions court today while her plea of not guilty to the murder of Dr. Fritz Gebhardt was entered.

Her attorney, Samuel Leibowitz, entered the formal plea. Vera said nothing.

Five minutes after her arrival in court before Judge Rosalsky, she had been led across the bridge to tombs prison, leaving Leibowitz and her father and sister-in-law to cope with hundreds of spectators who jammed around them.

Drive To End Direct Relief Being Pushed

President Allots Another $150,000,000 For W. P. A. Projects

JOB DRIVE HAS BEEN LAGGING

Large Fund Is Still Available For Transfer, Washington Report Shows

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—President Roosevelt has thrown another $150,000,000 behind the PWA in the drive to end direct relief by Dec. 1.

The money was transferred from the RFC earlier this week, without announcement, it was learned today.

This makes a total of $1,193,680,323 which the president has placed behind the organization, originally created to check and speed other government agencies in the drive to put 3,500,000 employable heads of families to work, and later turned into a job-creating agency when the $4,000,000,000 program failed to show the desired results.

Projects Approved.

The president still has $39,391,845 of the $4,000,000,000 yet unallocated, which he may allocate to any of the 66 agencies, operating in the employment drive, or divide among the several agencies.

But more significant, perhaps, is the fact that treasury statements today showed that $1,631,627,570 of the funds already allocated to other agencies than WPA is as yet unobligated, and may be used by the president to transfer to other agencies.

When emergency relief funds ran short last winter the president impounded $262,000,000 of unobligated PWA and other funds, and turned the money over for direct relief to the states.

The president and Comptroller General McCarl have approved WPA projects with a total value of $3,371,198,362 to date, although McCarl has made only $1,057,368,737 in cash available.

The cash is not available to state WPA directors until the comptroller general has signed treasury warrants placing it at their disposal.

Although WPA Chief Harry L. Hopkins has insisted that federal allotments to states for direct relief would end this month, both he and

Wife "Lured" Away, Actor Says

NATALIE HAYS HAMMOND LEONA DOYLE

Four Brothers Die In Flames

(International News Service)

WEST ORANGE, N. J., Nov. 22.—A defective oil heater was blamed by firemen today for the fire which cost the lives of four young brothers here last night.

The boys were burned to death when the flames trapped them in a second-floor bedroom of their frame home.

Their mother, Annie Ciampi, succeeded in saving two daughters, who were asleep in another room, but was beaten back by the fire when she tried to rescue the boys.

The boys were the sons of James Ciampi, a WPA worker, who was absent when the fire broke out. Their names were Louis, 4; James, 6; Antonio, 10, and Edward, 13.

Reports Conflict On Casualties In Clash North Of Makale

(International News Service)

LONDON, Nov. 22.—Ethiopian warriors were reported to have killed 300 Italians in a fierce battle at Womberta, north of Makale on the northern front, November 12, a Central News Dispatch from Addis Ababa stated today.

An Exchange Telegraph Dispatch from Addis Ababa said the Italians, marching from Makale to Kolel, were wiped out.

A Reuter Dispatch from Rome, however, said the Ethiopian claims that 300 Italians had been wiped out referred to a day-long engagement between the "mystery" Danakil column of Italians and troops under Ras Kassa November 16, in which the Italians were ambushed by the Ethiopian warriors.

Reuter stated the Italians admitted four officers including a colonel were injured in the fight and 50 Askaris were wounded.

Rome also reported today an encounter between Italian and Ethiopian forces, but said it was near Amba Betlem, southeast of Makale,

Incoming City Officials Meet With Council

VOICE OPINION DURING SESSION

Mayor-elect Charles McGrath and Councilmen-elect J. L. Fink and J. Myron "Doc" Rice gave their first opinion today relative to affairs over which they will have jurisdiction when they are formally inducted into office January 6. They, together with City Treasurer-elect C. C. McKibben were the guests of the present council at their meeting in the city hall and following the session assembled around the council table and discussed city affairs.

The question which was before the council related to the bond for the city treasurer. The bond for the present incumbent, Louis McClung, was set a few years ago at $30,000. The incoming members of council and Mayor-elect Charles McGrath deemed the bond sufficiently high. They so expressed themselves when Mayor Charles B. Mayne asked them for an expression.

Solicitor Robert White informed the group that it is his opinion that the city should pay for the bond, and added, that, in event the court determine that the city should contribute to the payment for the McKibben's bond for acting as school treasurer an adjustment could then be made.

Finance Director Albert A. Hoyland explained to the incoming members that the city treasurer assumes charge of about $584,000 per annum for the city but as treasurer for the school district of New Castle handles approximately $1,000,000.

The clerical situation in the city treasury was also discussed. For the benefit of the men who will preside over the city's affairs for years to come, Treasurer Louis McClung fully explained the help necessary and outlined the probable cost.

Although Mayor-elect McGrath and Councilmen-elect Fink and Rice have visited city hall officials and employes recently, it was the first time today that they registered any opinion relative to city affairs.

When they entered council chambers, together with Treasure-elect McKibben, Mayor Mayne invited Mayor-elect McGrath to occupy a chair alongside of him, which McGrath did.

DOG CAPTURES GROUSE ON HUNT

Bird Flies Directly At Hunting Dog And Is Quickly Captured

Shooting grouse is one of the most sporting diversions known to sportsmen in this section. They won't stay in one place long enough to get shot.

It's much easier to have your dog bring them in alive, Dr. William Wallace has found. With his young son and English setter, Dr. Wallace went hunting north of New Castle a day or so ago.

The dog flushed a grouse and stood on point. Either the grouse was in a cross wind or a down wind and didn't notice the dog. In flushing the grouse rose directly towards the dog and in an instant he reached out and grabbed the grouse in his mouth.

Without leaving a tooth mark on the bird the dog brought it to Dr. Wallace, making the overhead cost of the bird light.

Stream Of Lava Five Miles Wide Flows In Hawaii

Eruption Is Said To Be Largest In History Of Island

FLAMING LAVA SHOOTS INTO AIR

Valley Residents Are Preparing To Evacuate If Danger Increases

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)

HILO, (Island of Hawaii) Nov. 22.—As spectacular columns of fire and smoke continued shooting into the skies here today from the erupting volcano Mauna Loa, the two rivers of molten lava, menacing the city of Hilo on the east side of the island and the Kona coast to the west, spread out into the lowlands.

With the spreading, the flow was slackened at the danger points, but continued unabated from the fissures in the sides of the fiery mountain, set into action yesterday by an earthquake.

Observers said the lava was not flowing over the rim of the volcano, but was issuing at points far below the rim.

However, the fire and smoke, carrying some lava and rocks, were shooting from fourteen gigantic fountains, or fire pits, inside the crater. The fountains played like ghastly geysers.

HONOLULU, T. H., Nov. 22.—A stream of lava five miles wide was creeping slowly down the mountain side of Mauna Loa on the island of Hawaii today following a flaming eruption of Mokua Woeweo crater last night.

No immediate danger to thousands of inhabitants in the rich farming valleys near Hilo was reported.

The eruption was believed the largest in history.

Glow of flaming lava shooting thousands of feet into the air was visible in Honolulu, 200 miles north of Hilo.

Rumbling Increases

Edward G. Wingate, superintendent of the Hawaii National Park, reported the center of the activity was in the crater of the summit of Mauna Loa. The lava was breaking out from the crater apparently through earth fissures and also shooting high into the air.

Wingate reported he was proceeding immediately to the scene, but from his vantage point, a distance of 40 miles, he could not be certain whether the main flow of lava was through earth fissures or due to the eruption.

The flow of the fiery sea was splitting the saddle between Man-

U. S. TO COLLECT ALL TAX?

New Proposal Is Considered

Would Be System Of Preventing Present Double Taxation Situation

CONFERENCE ON SUBJECT HINTED

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON Nov. 22—The possibility of Uncle Sam collecting most of the nation's taxes—and dividing with the states, counties and cities—was foreseen here in the wake of tax discussion by President Roosevelt and Secretary of the Treasury Morganthau.

The plan has been approved by many "brain trusters," who have moved in and out of the Roosevelt administration.

Its backers say it is the only way to meet the double-taxation evil hit by Mr. Roosevelt and Morganthau.

While Mr. Roosevelt has put off solution of the problem until 1936, he expects to call a conference of state and federal officials next winter.

U. S. Sole Collector

The plan of making Uncle Sam the sole collector already has been proposed in one specific case. When liquor taxation was first considered after repeal, the "brain trust" committee named by Mr. Roosevelt recommended, after repeal, the "braintrust" committee named by Mr. Roosevelt recommended that the scheme be adopted.

Advocates said that it would prevent a race between federal and state governments for liquor revenue. The idea was promptly rejected in congress as unworkable and politically unpopular.

Morgenthau emphasized the chaotic condition caused by federal state, county and local tax collectors all chasing the same dollar. He told the conference of mayors here that it sometimes costs more to collect taxes than the tax levy yields.

Divisions Eliminated

For years, however, there have been "genelemen's agreements" under which federal and state tax fields have been divided. With the depression all pretense of observing the time-honored divisions were abandoned.

The federal government adopted a gasoline tax, a levy previously considered reserved for the states. As the government increased income and estate taxes, states did likewise.

Federal, state and local governments now are competing for sales taxes, corporation levies, franchise and transfer taxes.

The problem of overlapping taxation did not attract widespread attention until the depression.

One remedy frequently proposed is for the government to levy a heavy tax, and rebate a certain percentage to the states. This was done in the original estate tax. The objection is that it did not prevent states from imposing separate taxes.

Many tax experts hold that a constitutional amendment is necessary to bring about a division between federal, state, county and local revenues, and that the federal government must be given supreme power.

The only other answer, many experts say, is for all governmental bodies to lower taxes.

Prayer for all Americans: "Oh, Lord, help us to keep our darned noses out of other people's business."

Report 11-Hour Battle

Exchange Telegraph said delayed reports from Womberta, in Tigre Province, stated that on November 12 Ethiopian troops under Dedjasmatch Kass Sebahat, governor of Agame, fought an 11-hour battle with the Italians.

The fight raged from dawn to dusk, according to the report.

Exchange stated the Ethiopians claimed to have killed an Italian colonel and two other officers and 300 men, and to have captured 300 Italian rifles and four machine guns.

The report stated the Ethiopian losses were not given in the advices finally reaching Addis Ababa from the north.

A Central News Dispatch from the Ethiopian capital stated the commander of the defeated Italian force was wounded. This dispatch said the Ethiopians captured 400 Manlicher rifles.

It added the fighting was fiercely bitter, and that the Ethiopian government takes the view the encounter was an Ethiopian victory, since it was not reported by the Italians.

ALL ETHIOPIA IS MOVING TO FRONT

There was no medical corps in sight. Nobody but the leader wore a uniform.

Some carried modern guns. Most carried blunderbuses. Some carried sticks.

There was only one pair of shoes in the whole army, which may have numbered 30,000.

That pair was worn by the ras himself, who cordially greeted this correspondent as we sped up our truck and halted beside his richly caparisoned mule.

The ras was once in Paris. He was decked out in a robin's egg blue uniform. He graciously gave us a hand neatly gloved in yellow pigskin, while his bodyguard of 30 men presented arms.

Ethiopian organization does not appear to exist, but each man, woman and child marching in broken lines carrying odds and ends of the camp equipment has a special job to do.

The Ras—Ras Getatchou—told us:

"My army is going to Dessye and then beyond. We will reach the front in another two or three weeks."

Travel Is Slow.

This is an example of why the war is so long. This Ras' army already has been travelling for more than a month, and it will be nearly another month before he will be first seeing the Italians.

Nature remains the Ethiopians greatest ally, we realized as we descended from the high plateau into the canyon country, riven by gorged so deep it was impossible to see the bottom.

William Stoneman of Chicago dropped two ducks, four doves and three plover for the evening camp pot.

A hundred and fifteen miles from Addis Ababa we climbed again, mounting a precipice 12,000 feet, and suddenly saw stretched before us the awful waste of the Danakil desert.

Looming in the distance was Mount Mussa Ali, whence the Italians are marching with tank trains in defiance of the fearful heat and the implacable savages.

Suddenly the trail stopped abruptly with hairpin curves which proved too sharp for our truck, forcing us to back up. The maneuver was so precarious our driver sighed and cursed.

Twice we were fairly confident we would topple over, but the road held. One truck broke down, presumably with a broken axle, but we finally made the curves.

We searched for water and were unable to find any, and finally had to pitch our camp on a bleak hillside swept by the African Alpine wind.

KUNSELMAN CASE NEAR COMPLETION

termination to leave him cleared the way for the final formalities of giving the case to the jury.

Argue In Car

Dorothy Virginia he said, accused him of friendship with other girls, as they argued in his parked car along the road early on the morning of June 13.

"I smacked her and she smacked me," he testified. "I picked up my gun from the seat and fired it to scare her. Her clothes caught fire from the flash. I put the fire out.

"Then we quarreled some more and she grabbed hold of the gun. I grabbed her hand. She seemed to be trying to open the door of the car. Just as she leaned over, the gun went off.

"I heard her say, "oh," and then she fell out.

"I examined her and I thought she was dead."

That was Kunselman's own version of the slaying which District Attorney Warren S. Burchinal maintains was not an accident but a murder.

Has Swaggering Air

Kunselman wore a swaggering air of self-assurance as he testified in his own defense but his self composure soon vanished under the caustic cross-examination of Burchinal. Nervously, he showed the district attorney how he believed the girl was holding the gun when it was discharged.

At first Dorothy Virginia wanted to leave town with him when he explained to her that he believed he had killed Walter Jacobs, a beer parlor proprietor, in a holdup, Kunselman testified. He begged her to remain behind because he had insufficient money to provide for both, according to his story. Then, in her anger, she accused him of intimacies with other women and the quarrel began, Kunselman said. He drew his gun only to frighten the girl, he maintained.

Kunselman's testimony agreed in virtually every detail with his signed statement given police. In his confession he admitted a gun found on him was the gun which fired the fatal shot but he testified he threw the gun which killed Dorothy Virginia into a river at Toledo, Ohio. He lied about the gun in his confession, he explained to protect Gaylord Stanley who had given him the weapon.

During the 18 weeks after the slaying when police sought him, Kunselman said he traveled through Ohio, New York, Pennsylvania and Michigan, finally returning to Washington where he was captured.

Even reporters and photographers were being solicited by the little ones. For more important game, they had the 13 secret service men who customarily accompany the president and 67 marines from Quantico, Va., who were sent to Warm Springs to assist in giving the executive a bit of privacy.

Around noontime, on his way to the pool, the president had promised to stop by the newspapermen's cottage and hold his usual Friday press conference. According to Secretary Marvin H. McIntyre, this was his only engagement of the day, or remainder of the week.

"This offense was committed by a group of boys," Dickey said, "and Llewellyn was only 20 at the time. He now has a chance to secure a position in New Castle and I believe he has been sufficiently punished already and therefore ask for a commutation of the sentence."

Application of Theodore Favero, sentenced to a term of from five to ten years in Western Penitentiary for robbery and larceny, was opposed by the board of trustees. The board took under advisement the application of Paul Kish for commutation from a 1½ to six years' sentence in Western State Penitentiary for breaking and entering with intent to commit a felony.

Job Drive Lags.

With the job drive lagging—latest reports available show 1,400,000 employables on the relief rolls had not yet been provided with work Nov. 9—observers anticipated further transfer of funds to WPA in an effort to meet the Dec. 1 deadline.

Unofficial reports indicated that approximately 500,000 persons had been put to work since the Nov. 9 report, still leaving some 900,000 jobs to be created in the remaining nine days of the month. This would require employment of an average of 90,000 persons a day.

NEW EDENBURG VIADUCT PLANS ARE EXHIBITED

feet west of the first plans, in order to avoid going through an old cemetery. This was about the only change in the plans. Residents of Edenburg are protesting against the location of the viaduct as they claim it will inconvenience them. The route shown on the plans as drawn show the viaduct swinging away from the present road which runs through Edenburg and cutting across a meadow which would leave the residents several hundred feet away from the viaduct.

Mr. Beckel also asked if there had been agreement reached upon the division of property damages. He was informed that the county and the railroads would bear the expence on a 50-50 basis but that the three railroads involved had not yet reached a complete understanding as to how the 50 per cent should be divided among themselves.

Another minor question that arose today was that concerning a private crossing of the P. & L. E. and B. & O. railroads to accommodate a sand and gravel business on the east side of the Mahoning river. It was pointed out that if the crossing was abandoned there would be no outlet for the products of the sand bank.

Mr. Beckel said that the commission had no jurisdiction over a private crossing if the railroads wished to maintain such a crossing. The railroads will remove all crossing alarm equipment when and if the viaduct is built.

Formal Hearing Soon.

The one thing yet to be done is the formal hearing on the viaduct. This date will be set by the Public Service Commission and all parties interested in the viaduct will be heard.

The proposed viaduct is a part of the grade crossing elimination program of the federal and state government. If it is built it will eliminate three bad crossings. Oddly enough these three crossings are on three of the four proposed grand trunk lines of the United States, the Pennsylvania, the B. & O. and the New York Central.

With the date of hearing about to be set there appears to be a very good reason to believe that the actual construction of the viaduct is not many months distant. Building it will improve what is now a bad stretch of road in a transcontinental highway, federal route 224, eliminate hazardous crossings and cut some distance and running time between New York and Chicago, for this highway is the direct connection between the two metropoli.

SPOILS SYSTEM IN STATE

FIGURES just issued at Harrisburg show that, since Governor Earle assumed office the middle of last January up to last week, 3,334 new employes have been hired and 3,331 have been removed from the payrolls of the state government. It is fair to presume that practically all of the new employes hired are Democrats and that those whose service has been terminated are Republicans.

The Earle administration is not yet a year old so there is ample time to further increase the number of those who will draw their pay from the state payroll. Something close to 20,000 state employes are under the governor's control so Democrats can still be hopeful that they may in time be attached to the payroll.

Under our system of government it is the custom to give the spoils to the victors. That the present Democratic administration is taking advantage of its victory in this respect is, therefore, not an unusual thing. The Republicans, in control of the state for over 40 years, followed out the same procedure with this exception, that the faction in power removed adherents of the opposing faction and replaced them with their friends.

But such a system, whether practiced by Democrats or Republicans, is indefensible. It is cruel, costly and makes for inefficiency in public service. What incentive is there for a state employe, knowing that his job depends on politics and politics alone to give his best efforts to give the best service in the job in which he is placed? What becomes of the experience gained at the expense of the taxpayers who have paid for that training and is lost when the employe is replaced?

We might also ask what has become of the Democratic promise to reduce the number of state employes and thus cut down the cost of government? The figures just published show that there has not been much effort at economy along this line.

SKY ROOF REACHED?

It is possible that the roof for useful stratosphere flights was reached on November 11 when Captain Stevens and Captain Anderson, in the Explorer II, reached an altitude of more than 74,000 feet. If all the devices for recording valuable information were discarded, a better altitude might be made. Such a flight would be merely a stunt. Unmanned sounding balloons have already gone much higher. Rockets may some day push up a few more miles, but that is different.

According to experts of the national Bureau of Standards, who tested the fabrics used in the Explorer II, the capacity of such a balloon has to be doubled for every 20,000 feet of altitude. For an ascent to 100,000 feet, the capacity of the bag would have to be 8,000,000 cubic feet or more. The balloon of Explorer II had a capacity of 3,700,000 cubic feet and required two and three-quarter acres of fabric.

There will be other attempts to make a higher altitude record, for science and sport. But most stratosphere flights hereafter will be made merely to add to the accumulation of scientific facts which men and instruments can record at heights already attained.

CHRISTMAS SUGGESTION

Christmas is not too far away to begin planning for it. Many of the churches have already begun to lay plans for the proper observance of Christ's natal day. There is so much about Christmas coming up with thoughts of it that, if one were to write, he easily could cover many pages and scarcely know it—and yet, half of this sweetest story would remain untold.

What a happy thing it would be this year to pick out somebody you know who ordinarily will not have a happy Christmas—somebody, whose life is not all "roses and sunshine"; somebody, whose story has been written with the pen rust of disappointment and despairing difficulties; somebody, whose soul has been pinched and his heart choked by the circumstances of fate, over which he or she had no control but who remains firm in the conviction that there still is a Santa Claus, even though Santa disappeared out of his or her life in childhood forever.

Let us begin now to think of some one to make happy this Christmas—some one who is undoubtedly overlooked in the mad, glad rush. Perhaps this some one may be rich or well-to-do financially; it does not matter, whether rich or poor, make it a point this year to remember some of those unfortunate, unhappy victims around, whose lives fate seems to have hung a pall.

TAX REVISION NECESSITY

Talking to the Conference of Mayors, President Roosevelt took up the always-exasperating subject of taxation. About everybody can agree with him when he says that taxes have grown like Topsy; that simplified methods are much to be desired; that the federal government, state and municipal administrations have been stepping on each other's toes; that the complications are so grave that revision is essential.

These are facts that are self-evident. To what extent, we wonder, does the president hold himself responsible for tax burdens that are becoming intolerable? For he has insisted upon adding to levies that were already almost intolerable.

Recently London's greatest merchants informed the retail trade of the United States that England was prospering because its government kept its hands off business.

Returning from a considerable stay in Britain, J. P. Morgan brings back the same report. Business is going ahead over there "because the government lets it alone and does not double up the taxes on it. People here do not realize that if a firm goes ahead and increases its business, eight months of the results are taken in taxes." And the administration has gone steadily ahead clamping on new imposts.

Mr. Roosevelt's great mistake when he started out to find the solution to the depression problem was in placing reform measures ahead of recovery asserts the Inquirer of Philadelphia. Social security can not be thrust aside, but the intricacies with which England had been wrestling for years he undertook to settle experimentally in a brief space of time.

Today business is apprehensive of the payroll taxes that are about to be inflicted upon it for unemployment insurance. The end is obscured by the fog of uncertainty.

Tax revision is a necessity. It is imperative. It should not be sidetracked because of political exigencies. Having admitted the need for over-hauling our inequitable tax system, President Roosevelt should push the project through, regardless of the political consequences.

The Emperor Goes Flying. Japan's Plan Postponed. Active Young Rothschild. Messrs. Romulo And Morgan.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

ETHIOPIA'S Emperor Haile Selassie paid his first visit to the front in his American plane, one of a small "fleet." The royal chief pilot who flew the plane is a Frenchman, M. Corriger. The emperor has one German pilot named Weber, who in the big war was one of three pilots that shot down the famous French ace, Guynemer.

Addis Ababa reports successful resistance by the Ethiopians, including 150 Italian killed, when Ethiopians used flaming gasoline. Several dozen Italian trucks are reported captured, and Ethiopia, elated, refuses to discuss "peace with concessions."

PEIPING reports the Japanese plan to swallow a large part of North China, with 95,000,000 inhabitants, abandoned for the time. The 95,000,000 did not want to be swallowed and the mouthful is too big to be absorbed by force, now.

There is no proof that the Mikado's government had taken part in the plan, the "absorption" plan being a good idea of one energetic Japanese.

A LITTLE boy named Primrose, grandson of Lord Rosebery, great-grandson of Lord Rothschild, one of the pages at a recent royal wedding, is a handsome, but mischievous little boy.

"In spite of their protests, he tickled the bridesmaids," according to official reports. This would interest his remote ancestor, the original Rothschild of Frankfort, and his noble British grandfather, the Earl of Rosebery.

The latter, when young, declared that before his death he would become Prime Minister, acquire a fortune and win the Derby. He did all three, largely with the help of a Rothschild fortune that he married.

NOT GUILTY

I'VE JUST been taken apart and trampled on.

By a man I never saw in my life, never heard of, never met, don't know whether I want to meet or not.

In a letter (It was sure to be a letter, because most of us can be a lot tougher in a letter than when we're face to face with the fellow we're mad it.)

This gentleman in this letter was furious with me. I could hear his teeth gnashing and clicking as I read his words....He was sore because, he said, I had written something about him. I had dipped into his personal affairs and written about them. He didn't know how I knew them, but he was sure that somebody who hated him had told me about him and tipped me off to write that article. I couldn't tell from his letter what article it was or what I had said, but I gathered it was something about his being a perfect gentleman abroad and a cross-patch at home....Or maybe it wasn't that. I can't be sure. The writer was so enraged that he was incoherent in the expression of his anger.....He signed his name, but didn't give any address and I can't find him in the city directory.

But it wouldn't do any good to write and tell him that I nver heard of him in my life. He'd say I am a liar, he'd say I'm trying to duck out.

I suppose it wouldn't do any good either, to tell him, in words of one syllable that I not only was NOT writing about him, but that I WAS writing about myself! I had reached inside of me and found some foible or other in me that interested me. So I wrote about it....And he, reading it, thought I was writing about him and was insulted.

Well, its's happened before.... and it may happen again.

I've learned this....If you want to hit the other fellow square in the eye, pick on one of your own faults and write about it. If you pick out one of your virtues he'll say: "That guy hates himself, doesn't he?" But if you pick out a weakness, he'll say to himself: "Me, too."

Is that because the average man is sensative to his own faults, blind to his own best qualities?....Search me, and I'm inclined to think so ....But that letter didn't sound much like it.

Disarmament conferences are worth the money if for no other reason than that they keep folks so busy there's no time for war.

Under the leadership of Amon G. Carter, publisher of The Fort Worth Star-Telegram, member of the commission, and state chairman for Texas, a most successful local campaign is being put on at Fort Worth. Employee groups are reporting 100 per cent subscriptions, and the campaign is now being extended to every civic and professional organization in the city and county. Monroe Odom, from whom Will Rogers used to buy his newspapers when in Fort Worth, has organized the first newsboy memorial chapter of the fund.

No doubt some of those foreign dictators have good reasons for being rough with some of the inhabitants of their countries if they are anything like the specimens who leave there and come to this country.

TODAY'S STORYETTE

A long-haired youth entered a music publisher's office carrying under his arm a small roll of paper.

"Good afternoon," said the publisher, "what can I do for you?"

The youth looked nervous.

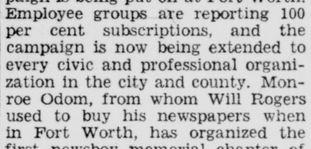

"Well-er I have a song here," he began, "and I was wondering if you would publish it. Er-shall I sing it?"

"Oh, yes, let's hear it," said the publisher. The youth stood up and burst forth.

"Well," asked the young man, "what do I get for it?"

"Oh," replied the other with an air of resignation, "I'm a publisher, not a judge."

Six restaurant owners near Uniontown have been indicted for selling hamburg sandwiches composed partly of sawdust for five cents each. The price of hambergers has gone up to ten cents now. We often wondered why some investigation was not made on the torrid canine.

A school boy in the lumbering district of Washington was being catechized by his teacher in one of the district schools and he was getting along fairly well.

"Now, Johnny," said the teacher, "tell me how many mills make a cent?"

Mr. Zilchguard (with questioning glance): "I don't believe you can do it, sir."

The duty on imported whisky, under the new arrangement with Canada, will be reduced about 62 cents. We don't know why that had to be mentioned first on the wires, but it may be that it is very important. It is hoped lower prices of liquor will kill off the bootleggers.

Rufus—I fooled you that time, Goofis. All I meant was your teeth. They're white and they bite, don't they?

Is it ever permissible for a man to order dinner from a menu before his woman companion has given her order to the waiter? I go to dinner frequently with an otherwise well-bred man who invariably gives his order first. KAY.

Answer: Your young man is either very absent-minded, ignorant or rude—just which is for you to judge.

Before expressing his own preference as to the items of the menu he should consult you as to yours and give your order to the waiter along with his own.

Failing to do this, he should at least allow you to give your order directly to the waiter before even mentioning his gustatory desires.

Central Press
New York Bureau

By LESLIE EICHEL
Central Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—Repeated rumors that Mussolini is determined to "run his own war" in spite of his general staff shifts. General staff men who oppose the Ethiopian venture (at least in the present manner) are put aside.

But it isn't Ethiopia that is disturbing Mussolini these days. If one observes the actions of the money world, it is possible to discern how the financial tide is running against Mussolini.

Italy has an absolute dictatorship. Mussolini is the entire government. What if his nationalistic venture should bring failure? Will the dictatorship come to an end in Italy?

Dictators inevitably fall when they fail in military ventures. Mussolini has a double hazard—not only has he the military venture, but his nation cannot live without imports, and sanctions have begun.

NATIONALISM

The naval disarmament conference in London beginning Dec. 2 (which will turn into a armament conference, each nation to see how far it can go) may have as its main theme, rampant nationalism.

Never in modern times have nations exhibited such nationalism as at present. People are being inflamed against one another, and truth seldom is able to surmount the hatreds and the bitterness.

The reason nationalism will come up for discussion is because it is raising new trade boundaries every day—with merely a few isolated exceptions, such as the United States and Canada.

RELIEF IN CITIES

How will cities take care of the thousands on relief whom the government is discarding? What will the states do?

The problem is one that baffles realists in spite of assurances in Washington.

The majority of municipalities are up to their debt limit. They cannot borrow. Thus taxation, of all sorts, must be imposed. Realty assessments are not likely to drop; instead, they probably will rise.

Mayor Daniel W. Hoan, of Milwaukee, president of the United States Conference of Mayors, sees the situation in this light:

"There are only two alternatives in this relief problem. These people must be fed, or they can be permitted to starve. But do not forget that when animals locked in a barn begin starving, they are likely to kick the barn down. Is there any reason to expect different behavior from people?"

FASCIST MENACE?

School teachers associations may use words of Dr. S. Parks Cadman, pastor of the Central Congregational church, Brooklyn, as a rallying force "to protect freedom".

In speaking before the Protestant Teachers association of New York, Dr. Cadman said this planet now is "the lunatic asylum of the solar system. In the United States, the doctrines for which our forefathers fought are treated with the utmost scorn and contumacy, and democracy is a beggar and is thrown out."

He added: "It is the interference with academic freedom which I venture to protest against. Oaths of loyalty, when attached to teachers, are impertinent interference with academic freedom and a reflection upon the most serviceable and sacrificial body of public servants in the United States."

He sees in certain European countries the thrusting of rifles into the hands of children, "self-respect taken away and brutality committed upon minorities, yet the dictators pose before us as new Messiahs."

Dr. Cadman continued: "Academic freedom has been tabooed in these countries. This is the capital offense. The sin against the mind of the race is in teaching it that it must goosestep in accordance with the dictates and the exigencies of the political state.

"In this country there are attempts to impose fascism on teaching. Proclaim your academic freedom to tell the truth concerning what is actually happening. You will meet with fierce resistance from those who love darkness rather than light. But liberty of speech is guaranteed in the Bill of Rights.

"Academic freedom is the guardian angel of whatever Eden we can win out of this chaos."

LITTLE ORPHANS OF THE WAR

More than 100,000 "World War babies" born during 1914 have been called to the colors by France.—News Item.

Little orphans of the war! Do you not recall the phrase?
It was ever on our lips in those terror-stricken days,
And our voices used to break as we spoke of them back then,
Pledging them our solemn word war should never come again.

Little orphans of the war, one and twenty years ago,
Unto whom we gave our word that a peaceful world they'd know!

Can so swiftly fly the years and our vows so little mean
That today they march them off, like the dads they've never seen?
Little orphans of the war! Must the statesmen now explain
As again they sound the call, that their fathers died in vain?

Only yesterday it seems we had pity for them all!
Only yesterday we sobbed for the helpless children small!
Such a little while ago 'twas for peace we knelt to pray.
Now those orphans of the war garbed as soldiers march away.

Writing Wrongs—"Taint so—

That Phoenicians sacrificed their children to the God Moloch, as suggested by a passage in the Bible, "Thou shalt not sacrifice thy children to Moloch."

Probably no such god ever existed. There is evidence that the passage is a mistranslation, the actual meaning being, "Thou shalt not sacrifice they children as molk," which means "not as victims." New light thrown on the Punian language by discoveries indicates this.

That "an pple a day will keep the doctor" away is true basically.

THOSE OBSTINATE ENGLISH

English people have very decided ideas about the pronunciation of the English language. They are so decided that even in Buenos Aires, English officers and employees of the English bank there insist upon pronouncing the River Plata, "Plate." Other well known English pronunciations are "Wooster" for Worcester and "Lester" for Leicester, but it even stumps at times those who know all about the English pronunciation.

The following was overheard at the dock on the arrival of the S. S. Washington the other day.

"I give it up," said the returning traveler. " I thought I was on to these Englishmen's spelling and pronunciation of names. I could say 'Chumley' and 'Marchbanks' and 'Beecham' and 'Bewly' and 'Manwering' and a lot more of those freaks, without batting an eye. But when I seen a sign 'Cavalcade Pronounced Success', it's too much."

Does he criticize your hands?

PLACE YOUR HAND HERE

Don't let your dishpan give you rough unattractive hands! Strong powdered soaps and crude "kitchen" soaps produce harmful suds—suds that dry the skin and make hands look old.

Change over to beautifying Ivory for dish-washing. It costs no more to use than many strong powdered soaps. And such a difference in your hands! Ivory keeps your hands smooth just as it keeps the skin of a tiny baby smooth—because Ivory is pure.

Washing dishes with Ivory is just a beauty-bath for your hands—and it's an economical beauty secret, too! Ask your dealer for the giant "Large Size Ivory"—it will last you well over a week, and then you'll be charmed to see that you have smooth, white "lady-of-leisure" hands.

"LADY-OF-LEISURE HANDS" cost less than 1¢ a day when you wash dishes with Ivory. Ask for the giant "Large-Size" of IVORY SOAP • 99 44/100 % Pure.

MARK TWAIN ASSEMBLY

Students of the high school witnessed an exceptionally fine program in assemblies yesterday and today. This was sponsored by the teachers of American literature and was a Mark Twain centennial program in commemoration of the 100th anniversary of Mark Twain's birthday which was on November 30 in 1835.

The program commenced with Principal Orth leading in the devotionals. The purpose of this program was given by Jack McConaghy and proved to be very interesting.

Two very interesting papers were read. One, "The Events in the Life of Mark Twain" by Marjorie Harper, and the other, a review of Mark Twain's "Huckleberry Finn" was very ably given by Mary Ellen Henderson.

Special musical numbers were rendered by the orchestra under the direction of Professor Replogle. The songs played included: "Old Man River", "Oh! Susanna", "Deep River" and "Huckleberry Finn".

Following this a very interesting and amusing playette entitled "Mark Twain Strikes Gold" was given by a group of students. The characters were: Sam Clemens (Mark Twain), Theodore Lelenko; Cal Higbie (a newspaper man with gold fever), Harry Dinsmore; Mr. Goodman (a newspaper editor), Tom Twaddle, and McCarthy (a clerk in the editor's office), Bob Cole.

LUNCH SQUAD MEETS

Members of the lunch room squad gathered in the gym on Tuesday morning of this week for their regular semi-monthly meeting. The business session was in charge of Art Kappes, the president of the group. The minutes of the preceding meeting were read by Nelle Houston and were approved by the motions of the members.

The most important article of business discussed was in regard to the setting aside of certain rooms about the basement and first floor for various activities during the lunch periods. This plan is merely in its formulation period and nothing further will be done about it until the next meeting of the squad which will be in two weeks. If any person has any suggestions in regard to any activities which might be held during the lunch periods please get in touch with Mr. Sheaffer.

President Kappes appointed a committee to work upon this matter and those appointed were: Virginia Ramsey, chairman; Vivian McCallian, Rose Katz, John Flack and Richard Davies.

PLAN STADIUM BONFIRE

Discussion was heard on the possibility of having a big bonfire at the practice field at Taggart stadium. This matter was brought before the student council at the regular meeting on Wednesday morning third period. The meeting was in charge of the president, Richard Gregor. This bonfire will be held sometime before the game with Sharon on Thanksgiving Day. The date of its occurrence will be announced later. Plans were also formulated to decorate the gridiron with the colors of both schools for this coming game.

This will be one of the big games of the season and being the last, every student of the high school should make an endeavor to see the game.

The theme of Dr. Spencer's talk was the wonders of the future as seen by modern science. He described and explained wonderful inventions that are now in use and those which are just now being worked upon.

Dr. Spencer emphasized the power of the new telescope which is now being built in the United States. This new telescope will have an area which will be 27 times as large as the largest telescope now in existence.

The fact that a thorough education is necessary for a person wishing to succeed was brought out by Dr. Spencer.

Probe Selling Of Dope To High School Students

Chicago Officials Probe Selling Of Dope, Six Men Arrested

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Nov. 22—Suspected of making school children slaves of the vicious drug habit, a high school janitor, a notorious drug peddler and four other men were in police custody today following a raid on a luxurious Marijuana den on the near north side last night.

Complaints that young couples of high school age had been seen entering the dive at all hours led to the raid, which netted James Weaver 40, once convicted of selling dope to school children, and a man identified himself as William Allred, 28, a high school janitor. Allred had thirty Marijuana cigarettes in his pockets when arrested.

The board of education ordered a sweeping investigation today and promised vigorous prosecution.

"I got my first lessons in English from a sergeant in the American army who kept his gun at the door while he taught us boys, and took his gun and went back to the barracks after school."

Mr. Romulo says every Filipino appreciates what the United States has done for his country, especially in establishing schools. But Americans should know, he says, that schools, roads and other improvements in the Philippines were paid for by Philippine, not by American taxpayers. Even the United States governor-general of the Philippines gets his salary from Philippine taxes.

MR. MORGAN, who knows what is going on in the world, doesn't expect war in Europe. He says:

He reports business prospering in England "because the government lets it alone and does not double up the taxes on it."

DOWNTRODDEN American capitalists, told by professional "thinkers" that they exist, like the goose, only to be plucked, will read with pleasure these lines, carried in every edition of Peter Molyneaux's paper, The Texas Weekly:

"The productive capital invested in Texas is among the most valuable assets of the people, more important to them than to the mere owners of it, for the chief benefits of productive capital are social in character."

Fertilization is important to crops, irrigation changes deserts to productive farms, and "capital," which is frozen labor, is useful and should not be discouraged. Mr. Molyneaux knows it, and so does every well-informed citizen.

IN MICHIGAN, Verner W. Main swept every one of five counties in his Congressional district, getting more votes than the four other candidates combined, and Mr. Main ran supported by the speeches of Dr. Townsend, who would give $200 a month pension to everybody past sixty, and make all pensioners spend the $200 as fast as they get it.

Voters, apparently, did not ask where the country would get eight thousand million dollars a year to carry out the Townsend plan.

Outlet For Adventure Curbs Juvenile Crime

HARRISBURG, Pa.—In discussing community programs for crime prevention, Dr. J. Evans Scheehle, State Secretary of Welfare, warns that the spirit of adventure in youth must be satisfied, and that any community planning which fails to recognize this fact will fail in its purpose.

Dr. Scheehle believes that social and legal resources in all communities should be further developed in the interests of boys and girls, which will serve to keep the youth from criminal acts.

The further co-operation of character building agencies and wider use of recreational facilities are cited as important steps toward solving leisure time problems of the young. The welfare chief recommends widening the activities of schools to provide extension and post-graduate classes for the increasing numbers of young people who are not being absorbed in industry.

Among legal resources for crime prevention, Dr. Scheehle finds real need for development of adequate probation service, both in the adult and juvenile fields. Many counties in Pennsylvania do not have probation, or the existing officers are used merely for record keeping and collection of fines.

Another legal aid would be the establishment of crime prevention bureaus in police departments. Special officers, both men and women assigned to contact groups of boys and girls and direct their activities in legitimate channels, have proved their worth in many communities. It is not arrests so much as advice that is needed.

Dr. Scheehle believes that each county should have a special juvenile court. All juvenile hearings should be held in judges' chambers with no publicity, and with only the interested parties present. Psychiatric and behavior clinics are eneded to furnish professional advice to judges, while trained workers in the children's field should supervise all children before the courts.

Dr. Scheehle also firmly advocates better housing legislation, which would permit removing of slum sections and a weeding out of crowded tenement areas.

Work Is Resumed On Penn's Estate

Excavations Are Being Made On Site Of Old Historical Plot

HARRISBURG, Pa.—Resumption of archaeological research excavations at Pennsbury, the Pennsylvania home of William Penn, is announced by Dr. Lester K. Ade, superintendent of Public Instruction, and chairman of the State Historical Commission following approval of the work by Edward N. Jones, State Administrator of the Works Progress Administration. Donald A. Cadzow, archaeologist for the Commission has started 12 men on work that will continue for about six months.

Several years ago the Historical Commission placed Cadzow in charge of archaeological excavations on the locations of what was once Pennsburg Manor, on the banks of the Delaware river, about twenty-five miles above Philadelphia. Foundations of the manor house and of the brew house were uncovered and charted, and sufficient materials were found in the ruins for the commission's architect and archaeologists to picture the general exterior and interior of the large house.

EFFORTS TO REVIVE CHESTNUT INDUSTRY

(International News Service)

SELINSGROVE, Pa.— Statewide attention has been focused on the efforts of Clarence F. Walker, Beavertown, assistant game protector, to revive the chestnut tree in Pennsylvania, a work he started in 1932.

Early in that year, Walker grafted 300 trees on private lands in the western section of Snyder county. He used unblighted native trees. Some of the grafts grew 12 feet by the end of the second growing season and last year even greater heighth was recorded by the more hardy of the grafts.

In addition to the graftlings Walker is also using imported chestnuts for seedlings he plans to use for planting purposes next spring. The chestnuts have come from China, Japan, California and Illinois.

2 Things to Do

TO EASE COLD INSTANTLY

Discomfort and Aches Go Almost Instantly This Way

1. Take 2 BAYER ASPIRIN Tablets and drink a full glass of water. Repeat treatment in 2 hours.

2. If throat is sore, crush and stir 3 BAYER ASPIRIN Tablets in ⅓ glass of water. Gargle twice. This eases throat rawness and soreness instantly.

THE pictured directions above show perhaps the quickest, simplest and most modern method yet discovered to combat cold and sore throat.

Your own doctor will approve this way. Millions of people have discarded "cold killers" and patent nostrums for this modern way. It relieves the average cold almost as fast as you caught it.

Note that all you do is this.

Three Bayer Aspirin tablets, crushed and dissolved in ⅓ glass of water as a gargle. Gargle with this mixture twice, holding your head well back to permit this medicated gargle to reach the irritated membranes of the throat. The Bayer Aspirin you take internally acts to fight a cold almost instantly. AND — eases the aches and pains that accompany most colds.

The gargle acts instantly like a local anesthetic to soothe pains in the throat and to ease throat irritation.

Try this way. You will be amazed at how quickly you can ease a cold. Be sure, though, to get Genuine BAYER ASPIRIN tablets. They dissolve almost instantly in the stomach. Hence start working almost instantly. And also, dissolve thoroughly enough in water for use as a gargle.

Why BAYER Aspirin Works So Fast

Drop a Bayer Aspirin tablet into a glass of water. By the time it hits the bottom of the glass it is disintegrating.

In 2 Seconds By Stop Watch

A Genuine Bayer Aspirin tablet starts to disintegrate and go to work. What happens in these glasses happens in your stomach — Genuine BAYER Aspirin tablets start "taking hold" of pain a few minutes after taking.

NEWSPAPERMEN PUSH ON TO ETHIOPIAN FRONT

Slow Progress Is Being Made

Caravan Strikes Temperature Around Zero In Mountains

HOPE TO REACH BATTLE FRONT

By H. R. KNICKERBOCKER
International News Service
Staff Correspondent
(Copyright, 1935, by International News Service)

WITH THE ETHIOPIAN ARMY ENROUTE TO DESSYE, Nov. 22.—(By Courier To Addis Ababa)—(INS)—Across a plateau 11,000 feet high and freezing cold, 15 truck-loads of newspapermen and cameramen headed into the gales of the African alps today on the first lap of their dash to Dessye, which they hope will prove the base for an expedition to the front.

Tonight 15 camp-fires burned along a trail which cuts across the heart of Ethiopia, and American, English, French, German and Japanese journalists shivered at their typewriters and wondered at the vast distance which separates their caravan high up on the roof of the African world from Geneva, England, Italy and all the other tribunes and nations which have made the Italo-Ethiopian dispute a matter of importance for the entire globe.

Cold Wind

Here stars blaze down upon a spacious plane and blaze with equatorial intensity, but a cold wind blows through the tent and our clothing, and the temperature is down around zero.

Here tribesmen move past us with wives, children, mules, donkeys, and horses towards a front which must seem impossibly remote to comfortable Europe, excited for its own reasons about the war in Africa but scarcely comprehending the circumstances under which it is being fought.

It was to get an eye-witness view of these circumstances that we left Addis Ababa after a prolonged refusal on the grounds it would be unwise to allow "Farangi"—foreigners, white men— to venture into the interior where the natives are unacquainted with the difference between Italians and other whites.

Pull Out Of Addis Ababa

But we arose at day-break and learned it was definite that we could go. We packed feverishly for five hours and put two tons of load on a one and one-half ton truck. When we finally pulled out of Addis Ababa it was without any escort.

With us were Ariel Varges, Metrotone's star cameraman and a famed world ace photographer for 20 years, Leo Thess, African expert and one-time German submarine sailor, and two native boys.

We hurdled the first obstacle when, after a soldiers barrier just outside Addis Ababa refused to allow Thess through without special permission, we obtained it by racing back to the capital and returning within an hour.

Stimulated at our success, we sped over suburban roads and through a pass in the mountains surrounding Addis Ababa out upon an open prairie. For hours we climbed steadily upwards until we reached 12,000 feet. The air became so rarified lungs pumped overtime and hearts palpitated, and a general feeling of acute discomfort was accentuated by a keen, strong wind which blew in from the north and whipped our covered wagon's canvas top and tore at our insufficient clothing.

Terribly Cold

Nobody in Addis Ababa had imagined it could be so cold in the mountains. They stretched away before us unendingly, and presently in the distance there appeared the yawning mouth of one of Ethiopia's many Grand Canyons.

Variously equipped, everybody had enough food for weeks of caravanning, but all were eager to supplement the caravan food with game. On the first day our group succeeded in killing too Nile geese.

In full anticipation of roast goose, we pitched camp early and soon there glimmered camp fires of camel dung. The only fuel in this woodless region.

The camp site was beside a small pool of dirty water. Not a tree was in sight, and around us streched a plain broken only on the horizon by mountains.

Actually we had travelled for only 40 miles, for despite the best efforts of the sturdy truck that was the best that could be done over the Abyssinian roads in four and one-half hours.

It was a small result of our first day's trek, but considering the fact we had climbed the best part of a mile, it was not less than had been expected.

No natives came. No hyenas howled. Not a sound interrupted the utter silence of the empty plain.

Withdrawn to themselves 50 yards away, our boys huddled around the smouldering fire and wrapped their flimsy shammas around their heads, and we, crouching in the immemorial fashion of men who seek warmth at night, thought about roast goose. But the goose project collapsed.

The Ethiopians refused to have anything to do with the Nile geese on the ground they were inedible.

We ate canned beans and chili, crawled into leopard-skin sleeping bags, and listened to the wind play wierd music on the tent roofs. We thought of what it must be like in sunny Rome.

WINE IS USED TO PUT OUT A FIRE

(International News Service)

BELA, Bulgaria.—For lack of water, many wine vats were broken and their liquid used to extinguish a fire which threatened to destroy the whole town.

This locality is famous for vineyards and wine, but also for its aridity, as it is situated, or rather, perched upon a hill upon which is found no water whatever. The villagers are compelled to cart all the water they need from a brook, which runs some distance below the town.

The conflagration had already swept a number of houses and it was assuming a fearful aspect. Finally the villagers rushed into their cellars, smashed the vats, and fetched the wine to the burning houses. The fire was soon put out completely.

MY NEW YORK

By JAS. ASWELL

(Copyright, 1935, by Central Press Assn.)

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—Mr. H. G. Wells sat at a large desk in one of the movie producers' offices here and talked at half a hundred newspaper reporters. Then he moved questions in order and immediately qualified as the champion evader of all time.

Not that Mr. Wells had, apparently, any explosive opinions to conceal. He was quite willing to admit that he was under contract to Alexander Korda, although he would not say for how long, that he was going to Hollywood to look over the ground, that his movie of the future, "Things to Come," will shortly be released, and that the motion picture is a greater art form than stage drama, novel, opera and, in fact, all other art forms combined.

These mass interviews are often as interesting for the reactions and queries of the newsgatherers as for the answers of the interviewee. This bunch ran true to form: there was the high-spirited young man who asked Mr. Wells if he liked marble bath-tubs lined with gold, a la Hollywood; there was the portly, graying gentlemen who wanted to know what Wells thought of the New Deal "as inspiritional material"; there was the young man who asked Wells what he thought of the flickers "as an arena for ideas."

And there was Mr. Bide Dudley, the radioldster, who demanded to know what the British author thought was "the greatest force in life."

Wells did make one forthright and rather newsy statement:

"My greatest ambition for years has been to die an American citizen."

Later he qualified it. "That used to be my ambition. It's not quite so strong any more."

Wells does not, it appears, think much of color in the movies. He thinks it's all right for Mickey Mouse. He will suggest, in "Things to Come," that there will be a world war about 1940, with pestilence and the virtual destruction of the race; after that the survivors will get together and work things out satisfactorily to a happy ending.

Someone asked: "Are you in the movies for art or for money?"

Wells thought this an unkind question. "I'm writing for the movies for art," he said, not without austerity, but he added: "I confess I am not unaware of the material side of the matter."

He is a little man, on the stout side. What there is left of his hair is arranged craftily across his brow. He might be the typical London solicitor or small buisnessman. He talks in a high, thin voice which at times approaches the querulous, but he is not without humor; indeed his replies—I should say his parries—to questions have an epigrammatic ring.

Once a plump photographer, waving a flash bulb, interrupted Wells' discourse with a wisecrack of his own

"Hold it, just a moment! I'm going to make 10,000 words!"

Mr. Wells is bound for Hollywood, to be a house guest of Charlie Chaplin. I could not but think how strange a pair they will make.

He will do no screen writing in Hollywood—this—time—because, of course, he is under contract to Alexander Korda in London. But there is plenty of evidence to support the belief that one of these days he will be one of the higher-salaried scenarists in the screen capital. He is very cordial and discreet in all his comments on that city.

He thinks the novel, as it is conventionally known, is a little old-fashioned. The reading matter of the future will be "screen treatments." That is how he has done "Things to Come" for book publication. You get the impression that the supermen of 1940-and-the-future will be able not only to read as they run but as they race.

I asked him if he read the fan magazines. He grinned at me. He goes to the movies two or three times a week in England, every time he can sneak off from work.

He parried all questions about what he thought of propaganda in the movies, who was his favorite actor or actress, what movie he has enjoyed most, what he thought of the pay of writers for the movies. One young reporter said to me as we went down in the elevator:

"Believe me, if I ever get to be a big shot like that I won't be afraid to speak my mind about anything and everything to all comers."

A Wells fan, one of the "intellectuals" who seem to appear at all these interviews, said sharply:

"If you had taken the trouble to read Mr. Well's books, you'd know that most of those questions were silly and irrelevant."

Come Out, Stars, You're Discovered

(International News Service)

CAMBRIDGE, Mass.—Other universes may be hidden behind the Milky Way.

The popular theory that the celestial group is entirely surrounded by dust, gas and other substances has been exploded.

Dr. Harlow Shapley of Harvard university observatory, atop Oak Hill, has discovered a "window" in the Milky Way. Light comes thru the space.

Red Cross Roll Call Report Is Given To Board

Determined Effort Will Be Made To Put Campaign Over During Last Week

CITY LAGGING BEHIND COUNTY

With one more week remaining of the Red Cross Roll Call drive, members of the executive committee heard reports from the city and county chairman on the work which has been done to date, which showed that unless the drive gains new stimulus during the last week of the effort, the goal of $4,500 will not be attained.

Members of the committee promised to extend their efforts and to urge the workers in the city and county to do likewise, so that the goal may be reached by Thanksgiving Day.

It has been found that many persons are under the opinion that half of what they give goes to the National organization. This is not so, only fifty cents from each membership being sent to the national organization to carry on the immense task of disaster relief. Thus if a person contributes one dollar, fifty cents of this sum remains with the local chapter; but if the contribution is five dollars, four dollars and fifty cents of this amount remains right here in New Castle.

Renders Much Service

Some persons are also confusing the Roll Call with another campaign. The Red Cross Roll Call contributions go for the relief of suffering humanity. In New Castle, the money which remains with the chapter is devoted to maintaining a bedside nursing service, which has been called upon more frequently than ever during the past few years.

This is the only organization which provides this service at the present time.

It also assists any families which have been stricken by fire, flood, or disease, tiding them over until they can get on their feet again. Just as the National organization provides this service to communities. If disaster should strike New Castle or any district in Lawrence county tonight, the Red Cross would be prepared to render this service locally, with trained workers, within a few hours.

The Red Cross teaches life saving, first aid, home hygiene and care of the sick, the use of proper diets, and is planning to establish first aid stations on all principal highways of the nation, with persons trained in the administration of first aid, to relieve those who have been victims of automobile accidents. Many people die annually, because there was not someone to give first aid, a few minutes after the accident.

It is still aiding the veterans of the late war and their families, in many ways.

One-third of one cent per day from every adult person in Lawrence county would more than put their goal over the top. This is the smallest amount asked by any organization doing any kind of welfare work in the county.

The members of the board at their meeting last evening expressed the hope that the citizens of the community will rally to the Red Cross cause and aid in putting the effort over the top.

Horse Runs Away To Rejoin Army

(International News Service)

BERLIN, Nov. 22.—This is the story of a horse which would not leave the army.

He was reared in the military barracks of Goettingen, Central Germany. He worked for the German army for months. Then the authorities sold him to a farmer, who in turn sold him to a resident of the village of Bodensee, 12 miles away from Goettingen.

The horse's new owner was driving him home when he stopped at a roadside inn for a drink. He tied up the horse outside. When he came out the horse was gone.

Search was made in all the local villages, lanes and meadows. There was no horse.

But at dawn the following day the horse was found. It was outside the door of the barracks, noisily pawing the ground in its demand to be admitted again "on parade."

HOW WRONGED MAN GOT HIS REVENGE

(International News Service)

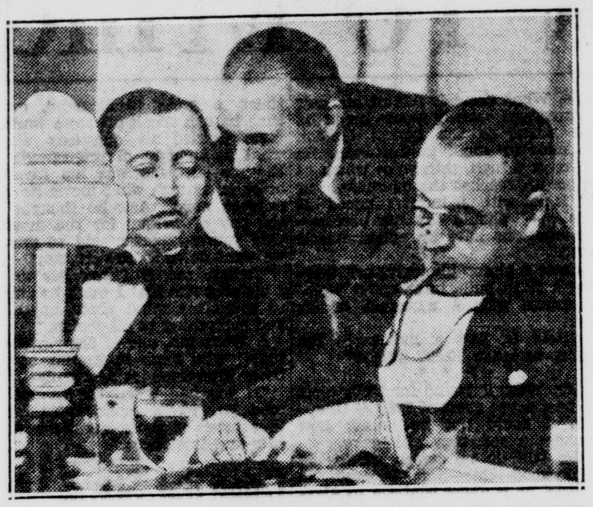

KISHINEW, Rumania, Nov. 22.—When a wife is unfaithful to him, a real Rumanian knows how to revenge himself, and Stephen Butoi got revenge when he caught his wife Florica "flagrante delicto" in his best friend's house.

After splitting the co-respondent's brain with an axe, the Rumanian Othello dragged his wife by the hair through the muddy streets of the town and, arriving home, put both her eyes out, cut off her ears, nose and tongue with a razor, after which he set fire to their house, which was Florica's dowry. Then he went to the nearest saloon, got drunk and cut his own throat with the same razor with which he performed the various operations on his wife.

Nobody interfered with Stephen's gory activities, since it is an unwritten law in the Northern provinces of Rumania to let a cuckolded man revenge himself according to his own imagination.

Republican Outlook For 1936 Is Bright

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Nov. 22.—Prospects of a Republican national victory in 1936 are "brighter than ever," Henry P. Fletcher, Republican national chairman, here to address the Pennsylvania Council of Republican Women, declared Thursday.

Fletcher said he was "practically leaning over backwards" in his neutrality on the question of presidential candidates and had no "favorite son" to sponsor.

The GOP leader expressed the conviction that Pennsylvania particularly was growing in Republican strength. As evidence of this he pointed to the state-wide election of Judge Jesse E. B. Cunningham to the superior court and the Republican sweep in Philadelphia on November 5.

Lines Tightened.

"In Pennsylvania," he stated, "our lines have tightened up and we are ready to go ahead. Pennsylvania not only will go Republican again in 1936, but will do it in a big way."

The Republican party chieftain said he had no "advance" address for his appearance before delegates to the council's 13th annual convention, but just intended to tell the Pennsylvania women "what is going on in Washington these days"

Preceding Fletcher on the program, Justice George W. Maxey of the state supreme court, cited the importance of preserving the federal constitution, saying:

"The federal constitution secures to us our national rights and when it is not violated it keeps the federal government in its orbit and confines every official to the limit of his legitimate authority.

"To transfer to the central government at Washington, as those in federal authority are now attempting to do—the power to regulate matters which are inherently for 'home rule' to decide, is to throw our entire mechanism of government out of balance."

Padlocks, Chains In Style In Reich

(International News Service)

BERLIN, Nov. 22.—Belts, reminiscent of womens' girdles of the Middle-Ages are being shown in the shops here as part of the "renaissance" fashion which is sweeping over German dress designers this season.

Some of the belts are made of imitation metal in the form of golden chains. Wide belts of heavy leather are shown which fasten with a large imitation padlock, in place of the usual clasp.

Another popular fashion is to have the clasp of the belt made out of wood or bone in the form of the wearer's initials.

THE RATS!

(International News Service)

ST. LOUIS.—The mysterious disappearance of Federal tax stamps from hundreds of beer barrels in a cold storage company, puzzled police and Internal Revenue agents here until someone thought of using a magnifying glass. Tooth marks were discovered on the wood. Rats, which like paste, had eaten the stamps.

RAZES OWN HOUSE, SUED BY ARCHITECT

(International News Service)

PARIS.—Has a house-owner the right to demolish his house?

For the first time this question is being discussed before a Court of Law in Paris and it is expected that the judgment will create an important legal precedent.

A young architect is bringing the case against a land-owner who employed him to build a house and pulled it down eight days after it was finished.

The architect argues that his professional reputation has been damaged, and draws a parallel between his own case and that of a writer or an artist whose work is damaged.

The landlord explains that, having paid the architect in full, and having been offered a higher sum for the ground without the building than for the ground and house together, he had every right and reason to demolish the house.

According to the legal definition of property rights an owner may 'use or misuse' his own property.

Peculiar noises coming from a towsack slung over Joe Forest's back caused Patrolmen E. H. Meinke and Robert Ledbetter to investigate, in Houston, Texas. They found 15 bullfrogs which Forest said he gigged in a public park. Forest was charged with molesting animals.

Turns Detective And Gets His Man

(International News Service)

ST. LOUIS—An Irish tinner—a craftsman named Joseph Burke—turned detective in story book fashion here to free himself of an unmerited larceny charge and bring about the capture of the actual thief.

Burke was found in possession of a stolen handbag. He said a man he knew as "John" had pawned it to him for 50 cents. Police were unable to find "John," however and arrested Burke. The latter, after a week in jail, was released on bond, then immediately set out to find the man responsible for his plight.

The detective-by-necessity spent an entire night searching for "John" in taverns and finally ran him down. Turned over to police by his captor, "John" confessed the theft and the charge against Burke was dismissed.

JAPAN'S LOSSES IN MANCHUKUO MOUNT

(International News Service)

TOKIO—Japan has lost more than 3,000 men in Manchukuo since the outbreak of the dispute there in 1931.

This is revealed in figures announced by the war office showing the price in casualties that Japan has had to pay.

In all, 2,758 army officers and men have been killed, 397 have died of wounds and 7,879 have been wounded, more or less seriously, in various engagements.

Correct this sentence: "My power comes from all the people," said the official, "and I will not use it to help my friends."

State Appeals On Liquor Tax

Supreme Court Challenge Framed By State On Payment Of Tax

GOVERNMENT ASKS $1.10 PER GALLON

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—A supreme court challenge to the right of the federal government to tax state liquor stores was being framed today by the state of Pennsylvania.

The issue, which affects many states which entered the liquor business after repeal, involves both the general excise on liquor and the federal retail licenses.

Attorney General Charles Margiotti of Pennsylvania, prepared the appeal to the high court after failing in the lower federal courts.

The state of Ohio previously failed to make a direct attack on the taxes in the high court but the Pennsylvania case is believed to be in such shape that a comprehensive decision will be obtained.

Payment Demanded

The federal government has demanded that Pennsylvania pay the $1.10 a gallon tax on liquor bought and stored in state warehouses and also to take out federal retail licenses for the state stores.

Pennsylvania's legal representatives contend the federal government has no right to tax a state.

The government claims that since the state entered business it is subject to the taxes just as much as a private corporation.

Huge sums are potentially involved in the case. Should Pennsylvania win other states might establish liquor monopolies and thus prevent collection of the federal taxes.

HANDBILLS MUST NOT LITTER UP STREETS

BUTLER, Pa., Nov. 22.—Handbills that are distributed from house to house in Butler must be left in the home or attached to the porch so that they will not blow about the streets, police said today when appraised of complaints on handbills littering up the streets and homes.

Police said that such papers must be fastened securely if left outside a home so the wind cannot blow them at random over the streets.

SEVENTH WARD NEWS

Book Week Being Marked At School

Window Displays Are Arranged By Students Of Mahoning School

The students of Mahoningtown school still continue in their observation of National Book Week.

Two very interesting window displays are to be found in an empty store room on North Cedar street

One bears the title "Books You Would Like To Have For Christmas" and is all dressed up in true Christmas spirit with a Christmas tree, lots of snow and a grand collection of new and exciting books that would be a welcome gift to any boy or girl.

The other is of a more serious nature as it bears the title "The Sad Adventures Of a Book" and shows the lives of them as they start out nice and new and through the carelessness of boys and girls return with a broken back, pages torn and all manner of aches and pains.

The first window was decorated by Evelyn Devideo and Constance Zumbello, and the latter by Idajean Mitchell, Bobby Castrucci, Philomena Lateano and Nancy Ona.

Mrs. F. E. Flowers Hostess To Group

Mrs. F. E. Flowers, of Second street, was hostess to the Ladies Auxiliary to the O. R. C. on Thursday afternoon at her home.

It was one of a series of social meetings planned for the winter. Sewing was enjoyed and refreshments were served

On the first Thursday of December the auxiliary will have a tureen dinner in the Legion Home. The committee will be appointed later.

Parents' Day At Mahoning School

Thursday was Parents' Day at Mahoning school. The classes were conducted according to the usual schedule and the parents and friends were interested classroom spectators.

A display of books in the library and in the halls, in observance of National Book Week, also drew the attention of the visitors.

Bridge Club Has Pleasant Evening

Three tables of bridge interested members of the W. A. G. club at a delightful gathering in the home of Mrs. Frank Gibson, East Clayton street, Thursday evening.

Bulgar Statesman Weds Housekeeper

(International News Service)

SOFIA—Goethe's act in marrying his cook has been given a parallel by the Bulgarian Foreign minister, Gheorghi Kiosseivanoff, who early in the morning slipped into the quaint little village Boyana, near Sofia and married his housekeeper.

When the minister and his party consisting of only four persons arrived in the village and a priest was sent for neither he nor any one else there suspected that it was the foreign minister who had come to be married in their church.

"Be short with your wedding service Father," the minister told the priest, "and do not ask the banal question whether we love each other, for we have been in love for the last half century," the minister added with a smile.

And, indeed, that wedding ceremony proved about the shortest one ever performed anywhere. The brother of the bride, an architect, and a cousin of Kisseivanoff acted as sponsors, best men, and witnesses combined.

Capacity Crowds Attend Nine Day Religious Event At St. Joseph's

One of the most impressive religious events of the year in the St. Joseph's church, corner of South Jefferson and Lawrence streets, is the Thanksgiving Novena to Our Lady of the Miraculous Medal, which started last Monday evening.

During the past week capacity crowds have attended the two services conducted nightly. The religious occasion commemorates the weekly Novena and also the feast of the Apparition of the Blessed Mother to Catherine Loboure, in Paris, in 1830.

This evening at 7 and 8, the Rev. Fr. Andrew J. Pauley, secretary to the bishop, and professor at St. Mercy College, of Pittsburgh, will deliver the sermon, the Rev. Fr. Joseph A. Doerr, announced. The Rev. Fr. Francis Stifter, chaplain of the New Castle hospital, will preach Sunday evening.

Monday and Tuesday, the concluding days of the Novena, the Rev. Fr. J. O'Connor, C. M., of Philadelphia, will deliver the sermons. On Wednesday, November 27, the day of the Apparition Feast, a solemn high mass will be celebrated at 8 o'clock.

TIFERETH ISRAEL SERVICE TONIGHT

"Three Roads" will be the subject of the sermon by Rabbi Pinchos Katz at tonight's service in Tifereth Israel synagogue. The service will open at 8:15 o'clock.

Skirmishes In Ethiopia

Querilla Warfare Is Reported Along Northern Front By Italians

HAVE CEREMONY FOR DEAD FLIER

By EDWARD HUNTER
International News Service Staff Correspondent
(Copyright, 1935, By International News Service)

ASMARA, Nov. 22.—Italo-Ethiopian skirmishes 10 miles outside Makale today revealed guerilla warfare is continuing along the northern Ethiopian front.

Officials of the Italian headquarters described the activity as akin to "swatting mosquitoes in the dark."

An Italian captain, two Askaris and nine Ethiopians were said to have been killed in a recent engagement at Emba Betlem near Makale. The next morning, it was stated, there was a second attack, in which the enemy divided into small groups.

It was stated between 500 and 600 men under Ras Seyum pounced on an Italian native battalion near Abarao Pass, but were driven off after the captain, two Askaris and nine Ethiopians had been killed.

Later, it was said, Ras Seyum again attacked the rear guard of the Italian column but was again repulsed after a sharp encounter in which there were no Italian losses.

Count Galeazzo Ciano, son-in-law of Premier Mussolini and commander of the Italian "Disperata" airplane squadron on the northern front, prepared for a solo reconnaissance flight today following ceremonies which placed his intrepid band of airmen under "leadership" of a dead hero.

Honor Dead Flier

Bruno and Vittorio Mussolini, sons of Il Duce and members of the squadron, took part in ceremonies honoring Sergeant Dalmazio Birago, who died from wounds received in the recent air bombardment of an Ethiopian concentration in the Buia region. The entire squadron attended his funeral.

"Sergeant Birago gave his life in the best tradition of the Disperata squadron," Count Ciano told International News Service.

"From being a simple machine-gunner, he has become a leader whose example of bravery we will all try to follow."

Asked about future plans for bombing Ethiopians, Count Ciano stated:

"I am going on a reconnaissance flight alone today, but I don't know yet when I'll take the squadron on another sortie. The planes are all repaired now from effects of the last battle, some new engines have been installed, other parts have been replaced, and all the bullet holes have been patched.

"At present I don't think there is a sufficient concentration of enemy troops to justify another attack. But we are ready when conditions demand."

More than 1,000 soldiers, officers and Fascist officials followed Birago's coffin to the church where the funeral service was held. Count Ciano called the roll of the squadron from the church steps.

When he called Birago's name, the throng of mourners shouted: "Present!"

Oesterling Will Case Is Revived

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 22.—Another Oesterling will fight, rivaling the contest brought by Miss Martha O. Aber against the last testament of the late Frederick J. Oesterling, Pittsburgh architect, was in the offing today.

An information charging him with larceny by bailee was made before a local alderman by Elizabeth R. Schmidt against Daniel P. Oesterling, brother of Frederick. She alleged he refused to return a will of his (Daniel's) wife, Mrs. Anna S. Oesterling, in which she as a sister-in-law claims to have been named chief beneficiary.

Miss Schmidt said she gave the document to Oesterling to have it probated here. Some question, however, has been expressed as to where the will should be probated as it is said Mrs. Oesterling, who died in New York, owned property in New York, Ohio and California.

FISHER COMPLAINS OF SMOKE NUISANCE

Julius Fisher, 1706 Highland avenue, today sent to council, which met in City Hall, a communication in which he complained that a smokestack beneath the window of his apartment was a nuisance. He said he could not open the window on account of the smoke. The complaint was referred by council to Solicitor R. M. White.

"Guilty or not guilty of this theft?" queried His Honor.

"Not guilty, sir," came the plea.

"Have you ever been in jail?"

"No, indeed, sir," came the indignant reply. "This is the first time I ever swiped anything."

China Clipper Poised To Sail

Clipper Ship Weighing 25 Tons Will Start Trip To Manila

NEW CHAPTER IN AVIATION WORLD

By RALPH B. JORDAN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

AIRPORT, ALAMEDA, Cal., Nov. 22.—A giant silver bug—Pan American Airways' China clipper—today was poised on the blue waters of San Francisco bay, ready to write another thrilling and important chapter in the march of American aviation.

The shining 25-ton four-motored flying boat, largest airliner ever built in the United States, waited the signal to swish into the skies and conquer the vast Pacific in inauguration of regular air mail service between the mainland and the Orient.

Musick In Command

Under control of Captain Edwin C. Musick, ranking Pan-American pilot, and his crew of eight, the luxury sky liner will hop for Manila over an 8,000-mile all-water route with a pay load of 1,000 pounds of mail.

Ringing in their ears will be airport farewells from such notables as Postmaster General James A. Farley, second assistant Postmaster General Harllee Branch, Governor Frank F. Merriam of California; J. T. Trippe, president of Pan-American; Col. Clarence M. Young, manager of the Pacific division of Pan-American; Mayor Angelo J. Orris of San Francisco and the mayors of other bay area cities.

"All abroard for Honolulu, Midway, Wake, Guam and Manila."

Haile Selassie May Surround Italian Troops

(International News Service)

LONDON, Nov. 22—Emperor Haile Selassie's airplane tour of the southern Ethiopian battle front is said to coincide with an elaborate Ethiopian scheme to surround the Italian forces on the outskirts of Sasa Baneh, the London Daily Mail said today.

The dispatch said thousands of Ethiopian troops have been moving from Jijiga to effect this strategy.

The paper said that according to reports from Ogaden province Ras Desta Demptu with 45,000 troops, marching thru the Aussa region had reached the vicinity of the Italian frontier in the neighborhood of the Webbe Shebeli river.

The Daily Mail said the reason for the Italian inactivity on the southern front since the battle at Hananleh was that the Italians were unable to get supplies and reinforcements to the front line, Ras Desta reportedly having cut the road following the Sebbe Shebeli river from Mogadiscio.

Young Farmer Is Found Slain

VICTIM IS SHOT THROUGH HEART

(International News Service)

NEW CITY, N. Y., Nov. 22.—A 17-year-old daughter of wealth and her youthful estranged husband were released today after being questioned for hours by New City police in the killing of LeRoy Smith, 23, strapping young farmer's son.

Police sought to learn from chestnut-haired Mary Virginia Philpot whether any person of her acquaintance might have been driven to homicidal fury by attentions paid to her by young Smith.

The body of the husky farm boy was found lying face down in the mud in a field at Phillip Hill Rd., a hamlet near here.

Missing Five Days.

The gruesome discovery cleared up the mystery of his five-day disappearance from home. Apparently he had been killed elsewhere and his body dumped beside the road. The body was found by Walter A. Brownesell, a prominent farmer in the community.

Although Smith's sweater, shirt and underclothing had been punctured by a .32 calibre revolver bullet, examination revealed, the leather jerkin found on the body bore neither bullet hole nor powder burn. The bullet had pierced the boy's heart.

Immediately after the finding of the body, rumors flew thick and fast that Smith had paid ardent court to Mrs. Philpot.

Throughout her long questioning early this morning the girl insisted Smith had merely been a 'good friend". Her 19-year-old husband, Luther Philpot, likewise could suggest no motive for the crime.

Training School Draws Interest

The interest and attendance at the leadership training school, held at the First M. E. church Thursday evening, was above the average, and the lectures given by Dr. G. S. Bennett and Dr. C. H. Heaton have been both interesting and instructive. The school closes with the session to be held next Tuesday evening. The devotional period was in charge of D. S. Williams.

The Old Testament course continued the United Kingdom and dealt with Saul, his death, value of his reign and the religious development, as well as the literature of the period. The introduction of David was then taken up, his life was outlined and his work as the greatest king in the history of Israel was recited and emphasized.

The New Testament course dealt with the General Epistles and dealt the books of James, first and second Peter, first, second and third John, and Jude. Paul was described as the apostle of love, James the apostle of works and Jude the apostle of fear (in the wholesome sense).

Interstate Liquor Ruling Is Made By Pittsburgh Judges

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 22.—Interstate liquor trade is not within jurisdiction of the State Liquor Control board.

That decree was embodied today in a ruling of two judges of quarter sessions court here holding the State Liquor Control act was unconstitutional if it attempts to regulate liquor commerce moving from Pennsylvania into neighboring states.

The decision, handed down by Judges Thomas Marshall and George V. Moore, resulted from a case where enforcement agents seized a truck load of liquor enroute to Maryland because the transporter had failed to comply with the conditional license and bond requirements of the act of 1933.

Rose is the son of Rev. and Mrs. H. D. Rose, New Wilmington.

Lawrence County Farms And Farmers

By H. R. McCulloch, County Agent

PREVENT BEE LOSSES THROUGH PROTECTION

Winter losses of bees can be prevented if proper preparation is made this fall for their protection and comfort.

Protection can be provided naturally or supplied artifically in the form of a board fence or a fence of cornstalks.

Another valuable provision is packing for bees located in higher altitudes and for colonies in exposed locations.

Plenty of food of good quality for winter and early spring is a primary necessity. Fall feeding of sugar syrup will be impossible in many hives because the brood chambers are now entirely full of honey.

FARM SHOW TO HAVE VEGETABLE EXHIBIT

Commercial packs of mushrooms, greenhouse and field-grown vegetables, and displays by farmers as well as institutions are eligible for competition in the Pennsylvania Farm Show at Harrisburg, January 20 to 25, 1936.

No entry fee is required but entries must be made with the director of the farm show not later than January 18. Each exhibitor may claim his display at the end of the show.

Packs and grades of vegetables accepted by the wholesale market are suitable for display. Exhibits will be judged on the basis of market standards.

Greenhouse products include leaf lettuce, tomatoes, radishes and rhubard.

Mushrooms are classed as white, cream, and brown in fancy and button grades.

Beets, carrots, onions, spinach, parsnips, salsify, rutabagas, turnips, root parsley, and winter radishes are listed among the stored vegetables which will be shown.

Five heads of cabbage, 12 stalks of celery, and three pumpkins or squash are required for an entry of each of these vegetables.

MULCH STRAWBERRIES AFTER SOIL FREEZES

In preparing the strawberry patch for the winter, mulching generally is considered a desirable practice.

While the chief advantage of the mulch is in the protection given the plants against the uncertain winter weather, it also serves in the spring and summer.

In extremely cold winters the mulch prevents the killing of many plants by the cold, while in any winter the mulch, by keeping the ground frozen, prevents "heaving" out caused by alternate freezing and thawing. Even when the plant is not actually "heaved" out it may have its roots broken by the action.

Mulch often saves the blossoms from frost injury in the early spring. When not removed too early the mulch may delay blossoming seven to ten days.

In the spring about half of the mulch may be raked into the space between the rows or partly removed from the patch while the remainder is loosened up to let the plants grow through it. The remaining mulch helps to conserve soil moisture and smother out weeds. It also serves to keep the berries clain by preventing direct contact with the soil.

Soon after the ground becomes well frozen the mulch is applied and it tends to keep the soil in this condition throughout comparatively warm spells. While the exact time of application varies with the season, generally it is in late November or early December.

Wheat straw is considered the best material for the mulch. Rye straw is quite satisfactory but is a little too coarse. Oats, barley and buckwheat straw are used but may be so fine as to pack too tightly and thus somewhat smother the plants. Even shredded cornstalks, marsh grass, or leaves may be considered distinctly better than nothing.

AUCTIONS MARKET EGGS VALUED AT $1,231,859

Slightly more than 4,038,550 dozen eggs were sold for $1,231,859.57, or an average of over 30½ cents a dozen. This average price is for all sizes and grades.

Members of the cooperatives receive the high average because 88½ per cent of their large and medium sized eggs are sold in the two top grades. Sales of 34½ per cent of the eggs are in the top or fancy grade and 54 per cent in the second or extra grade.

Cooperative egg auctions in Pennsylvania have enjoyed a steady and consistent growth since the first one was started in July, 1930. During the year ended September 30, 1932, they marketed 881,926 dozen eggs for $226,434.93. The next year the sale of 2,298,237 dozen eggs brought $546,991.08. In the year ended September 30, 1934, there were 3,349,606 dozen eggs sold for $853,596.

In addition to serving as successful marketing organizations, the egg auctions have performed a valuable educational service to members and others in the communities supplying the eggs.

Through improved production and handling practices the members of these associations have increased the average volume of eggs marketed in the two top grades from 62 per cent in the first year of operation to 88½ per cent for the past year. The greater part of this improvement is reflected in a 20½ per cent increase in the top or fancy grade.

Slightly more than two-thirds of the eggs marketed by the cooperative auctions during the past year were sold as large eggs averaging 24 ounces or more to the dozen. One association sold almost three-fourths or 73.3 per cent of its members' eggs in that size.

A "DIFFERENT" DINNER FOR THANKSGIVING DAY

Thanksgiving dinner without turkey may be unusual but it is quite possible. Many of us think it would not be Thanksgiving without roast turkey, although if the family budget does not include fowl there are other foods that can be made to look just as festive.

The turkey-less dinner, to be a success, must be unusual is the opinion of Miss Mary Vogle, home economics extension representative, and so she suggests a menu to the weary homemaker who wants something different, but not too expensive, for this year's holiday feast.

Thanksgiving Dinner

Fruit Cup
(Canned peaches, fresh apple, orange gelatin cubes)
Cream of Lima Bean Soup
(Sprinkled with grated yellow cheese)
Croutons
Baked individual squash, filled with buttered peas
Mixed white turnips and carrots
Buttered onions
Sweet potato boats
Spiced pears—hot rolls—tart jelly
Molded pineapple and cottage cheese salad
Pumpkin pie
(Garnished with whipped cream, meringue, or a dab of jelly)
Cider

Most of the foods suggested are farm produced and are to be found on the abundantly stocked shelves of the thrifty woman who cans and stored the surplus garden products.

Fruit cup is a good beginning for the meal because it is so colorful. It should be served cold.

Lima bean soup sprinkled with grated cheese should be served generously as this dish supplies the building material usually received in meat. Croutons are made by toasting small pieces of cubed bread in the oven until they are brown and crisp and then floating a few on top of the soup.

The main course is nothing less than a vegetable plate. Small individual squash filled with peas is a new way of serving two common vegetables. Carrots and turnips mixed, give a pleasing New England touch. Sweet potato boats might be made by stuffing sweet potatoes, adding a marshmallow, honey, or brown sugar, and browning, if a larger squash were used instead of the individual squashes.

Muffin tins or custard cups are fine for molding the gelatin salad. If this is served as a separate course, a small piece of melba toast might be served with it.

But the menu is not the only thing that makes the meal a success, Miss Vogle reminds us. Little things can convert even an ordinary dinner into a feast and so an attractively set table is important. Thanksgiving is an excuse to use the best table cloth and the choicest china and silver. Harvest and plenty may be suggested in the centerpiece by hollowing out a pumpkin and filling it full to overflowing with bright red apples and other fruit, possibly a bunch of grapes or a cluster of raisins. This is colorful and has the advantage of being inexpensive. Even bright vegetables in the orange, yellow, and brown colors are effective.

An addition to the centerpiece may be candles. Under the flicker of candlelight the humblest meal takes on a party air. Orange or yellow candles are lovely in brass or old pewter candle holders, but a tea cup fitted with an orange crepe paper skirt can be used nicely as a holder.

State Completes Nearly 1,000 Miles Of New Highway

Construction Of 955 Miles Of Road Under PWA Program Reported

By ARTHUR C. WIMER
Special Washington Correspondent Of The New Castle News

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 22.—Up to November first, Pennsylvania had completed construction of 955 miles of improved roads under the 1934 and 1935 PWA highway program, the Federal Bureau of Public Roads reports.

In construction of the 955 miles, $17,816,453 in 1934 funds and $7,828,278 in 1935 funds had been expended. In addition to the completed mileage, 108.1 miles were under construction in Pennsylvania on the first of the month, and 1.5 miles had been approved for construction. To the 108.1 miles under construction had been assigned $831,814 from 1934 funds and $1,015,026 from 1935 appropriations.

On the first of the month, Pennsylvania had a balance of only $598,615 in her PWA highway treasury.

Pennsylvania ranked tenth of the states in the total of mileage completed under the PWA road program. Ohio had completed 701.6 miles and West Virginia, 182.6 miles.

Junior Aviator Is Found Safe At Ranch In Wyoming

(International News Service)

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Nov. 22—Frank Kurtz, noted junior aviator, was found safe and uninjured on Thursday at the ranch of Bill McGee, 22 miles northwest of here, after he had been the object of an intensive search.

Kurtz left Cheyenne late Tuesday afternoon for Oakland, Cal., unable to make any progress because of high winds he made a safe landing at the ranch.

Kurtz plans to continue his westward flight as soon as he can secure gasoline.

Telegram Comes Late, So Lovers Commit Suicide

(International News Service)

BELGRADE.—Delay in deliverly of a telegram is blamed for the double tragedy of Arpad Nadj, a young Hungarian diplomat, and Heni Bartel, one of the most beautiful young girls in Sarajevo.

They had met as students at Vienna University, and fallen in love. They wanted to marry, but the young man's father refused his consent.

Arpad and Heni then decided to go for a holiday together to Dubrovnik on the Adriatic, and when it came to an end resolved to die.

They took poison, then threw themselves from the top of a cliff. When found, they were rushed to a hospital, but it was too late to save their lives.

A few hours later, a telegram from the young man's father arrived to say that he withdrew his opposition to their marriage.

SWIMMER CAUGHT LIKE FISH ON HUGE HOOK IN BIG DIVE

(International News Service)

MUNICH—Impaled upon one huge fish hook and caught in a trap of twenty smaller ones, a Bavarian swimmer received serious unusual wounds and came within an ace of losing his life.

The hooked human is Joseph Gipfi, baker of Dachau, Bavarian town made famous by the largest concentration camp in Germany. He went swimming in the Ammer river nearby. On his first dive, Gipfi caught himself on a huge carp hook, six inches long, which was attached to a long fishing line set out for the night catch.

In his struggles to free himself he became entangled in 14 other small hooks attached to the same "night line." Hampered by hooks and sinkers weighing over fifteen pounds, Gipfi nevertheless managed to struggle again to the surface. On his fourth time up, two fishermen not far away heard the terrific splashing and came to his rescue.

It was necessary to amputate three and one-half inches from the calf on one of Gipfi's legs before all hooks could be freed.

Germany has about 5,000 film theaters with a total of 2,000,000 seats.

On Court House Hill

There are about 1,300 applicants for old age pensions in Lawrence county who will not object to an extra session of the legislature. Unless the legislature digs up some money, it will be a long time before they get any pensions.

Camillo and Rosaria Landolfi of Ellwood City have filed a suit at the prothonotary's office against Mary E. Capitola, administrator of Peter P. Capitolo, deceased, and Charles L. Ross to recover $940 with interest from August, 1931. The suit is based on a note for the amount named.

John C. Dight, who has resigned as deputy secretary of internal affairs at Harrisburg, is quite well known in New Castle. He is a relative of Attorney E. F. G. Harper and was engaged in real estate operations here for some time. He was a director of publications during the administration of Governor John S. Fisher and was appointed deputy in the Internal Affairs Department under Secretary Philip Dewey. His salary has been $7,500 a year.

Yes, the world is growing better, the wailings of pessimists to the contrary notwithstanding. Consider the banquet to outgoing county officials by their co-workers Wednesday night. In years past officeholders have quietly faded away, unwept, unhonored and unsung. Maybe it was the fault of the officeholders, and then again maybe it was because nobody thought up the brilliant idea of a "lame duck" party. At any rate it was a good thought, carried to fruition in a big way. It made the retiring officeholders feel good to think that somebody showed appreciation of their efforts. Too often officeholders have to take all the raps. Nobody ever seems to think of sending them bouquets. There are plenty of good men elected to office, and occasionally a bad one. The good ones need encouragement lest they become embittered by criticism and lack of appreciation. It is encouraging to know that among the better things in life are banquets to retiring candidates. But wouldn't it be better to scatter some of the flowers through the officeholder's official life, instead of making them into one big bouquet at the finish?

The bureau of permanent registration, under the direction of Thomas Edmunds, is having duplicate registration cards made of all the voters in the city. One of these cards is for the master docket, which remains at all times in the registration bureau. The other is for use of the election boards at primaries and elections. When the work is finished there will be two complete files of the voters.

County Commissioners P. O. Elder and Elmer Connors have pretty definite ideas of what they are going to do when they go out of office. Both have been successful business men in the past, and both are able to carry on in the future Conners is one of the pioneer merchants of Ellwood City, where he and his sons operate a clothing store. He will go back to it when he steps out of the commissioners' office.

Elder knows the lumber business from A to Z. He buys virgin timber, puts in saw mills, and thus helps make the wheels of industry go round. In the past he has operated extensively here and in the South, and just now he has negotiations under way for a big timber tract. He believes that a building boom is in the offing and he is preparing to get in on the ground floor.

In his pursuit of Sam Baruso, big numbers racketeer, Sheriff Edward D. Pritchard is finding out that there are plenty of kinks in the law. When the Youngstown police notified him that Sam Baruso was inside looking out of the bastile at Youngstown, Pritchard thought that all he had to do was to go over and get him. But the getting wasn't easy. Baruso has a big following among the erstwhile politicians and others at Youngstown, and they immediately got busy. The little matter of a $15,000 bond didn't worry them. When the sheriff went over for his man he had to come back empty-handed. Then a night ride to Harrisburg for extradition papers followed another ride to Columbus, O., to see Governor Davy. A telegram to District Attorney Mont L. Ailey. A hearing at Columbus, a requisition granted, but Baruso is still in Youngstown, due, as was aforesaid, to the many kinks in the law

HOLY LAND FAMILIES BUYING GAS MASKS

(International News Service)

JERUSALEM—Eighty Arab peasants from two villages outside Jerusalem have placed orders for British gas masks at a local agent. Each mask will cost $20.

The example was started by a peasant of Beit Safafa village near Jerusalem. He bought a mask and told the agent that, if war came, it might save the lives of his three wives and eight children. If Allah decreed there should be no war, the hideous mask could hang on his wall, he said, and so incite his neighbors to envy and admiration.

"How can you divide one mask among your family of eleven?" asked the merchant.

"By the will of Allah," the Arab replied, "it shall be divided so that all have a chance of wearing it."

Now 80 neighboring peasants also want gas masks for wall plaques.

AUTO PARTS SHOW BIG SALES SPURT

(International News Service)

TOLEDO, O.—The auto parts industry is definitely on the upturn, reports from 17 representative manufacturers show. Earnings for the first nine months of 1935, their figures show, constituted an increase of 57 per cent over the same period last year.

Net earnings of these companies were: $12,941,025 in 1935, as compared to $8,237,364 in 1934. Third quarter earnings for 14 such companies were $2,145,179 this year as against $1,004,934 for the corresponding period last year.

Stimulus to employment in Toledo has resulted from the advancing of the season about two months by earlier introduction of 1936 cars.

Hunter Is Found Dead In His Auto

(International News Service)

PHILIPSBURG, Pa., Nov. 22—A verdict of suicide by carbon monoxide gas poisoning was returned by a coroner's jury Thursday in the death of John O'Brien, 50, of Reading, who was found dead in his parked car near Karthaus.

O'Brien apparently had come here to make arrangements for hunting. He had no known financial worries, according to the testimony at the inquest. An investigation was made by Coroner R. L. Williams and state police. A hose attached to the exhaust piped the deadly fumes into the car.

Two meetings will be held monthly; one for business and one to listen to medical lectures. Meetings with speakers are open to the student body.

OFFERS SELF AS A GUINEA PIG

JASSEY, Rumania, Nov. 22.—Lew Teighen, a young unemployed engineer possessing two university degrees, made a strange offer to Rumania's doctors. It is reported that Mr. Teighen's offer has been accepted and he is now at the disposal of the Jassy university.

The Message Of Haggai And Zechariah

"Brass Tacks" On The Sunday School Lesson

The Golden Text

Psalm 122:1—"I was glad when they said unto me, Let us go into the house of the Lord."

(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for November 24 is Ezra 3:1-6:22; Psalm 84; the Book of Haggai and Zechariah 4:1-10, the Golden Text being Psalm 122:1, "I was glad when they said unto me, Let us go into the house of the Lord." To give an epitome of the prophecy of Haggai we quote, with the publisher's permission, the chapter on Haggai from the author's analysis of the whole Bible, "The Gist of the Bible," by Dr. Alvin E. Bell, Toledo, Ohio.)

By DR. ALVIN E. BELL

Haggai and Zechariah, his contemporary prophet, were both among the party of Jewish exiles who returned from the Babylonian captivity with Zerubbabel in the year 536 B. C. Immediately they restored the altar of Jehovah and its sacrifices and laid the foundations of the temple. Then came the opposition of enemies, the discouragement of the builders and the abandonment of the work for 14 years, all of which we read in the Book of Ezra. Meantime the people grew indifferent about completing the house of God, and became engrossed in making their fortunes and building fine houses for themselves. His message consists of four addresses, all delivered within about three months, in the year 520 B. C.

The Keynote Of Haggai

The keynote of his message is in chapter 1, verse 8: "Go up to the mountain and bring wood, and build the house; and I will take pleasure in it, and I will be glorified saith the Lord." The people were attempting to hide their indifference to the interests of God's house behind the pretense that "the psychological moment" for temple building had not yet come: "The time is not come, the time that the Lord's house should be built." Haggai's first effort was to shame them into immediate action by contrasting their own "ceiled houses" with the heap of ruins that marked the site of God's house.

False Content Becomes Discontent

Soon the pendulum swung to the opposite extreme. The people who, for years were satisfied to have no temple, were now dissatisfied because the temple they were building was not to be as glorious as Solomon's temple which some of the oldest of the exiles had seen. Through Haggai God assured them that "the glory of this latter house should be greater than of the former," because "the desire of all nations should come and fill this house with glory."

Christ The Temple's Glory

The fact that Jesus Christ should come to the temple they were building would more than make up for its material inferiority to Solomon's temple. The builders then began to barter for increased prosperity because of the increase of their piety represented in their temple building. Like the Apostle Peter they were saying, "We havee left all and followed thee; what shall we have therefore?" Haggai's third address was to correct this mercenary spirit by reminding them of the years of defilement of their sin and counseling them to wait more patiently for God's blessing.

False Fears

On the same day he uttered his final address to quiet their fears of the surrounding nations and their armies. They were to look to God as their defense, for he had promised: "I will shake the heavens and the earth." The author of the Epistle to the Hebrews (12:26-28) quotes this text and applies it to what Jesus Christ is yet to do when He comes to displace the kingdoms of earth with the kingdom of heaven that cannot be shaken."

He's Making Money From Sailing Ships

(International News Service)

HELINGFORS, Nov. 22.—Captain Gustaf Erikson of Marienhamn, Finland, former sea-captain and now owner of the largest "windjammer" fleet afloat, is sending five of his largest vessels to Australia.

They are the Passat (4,700 tons, Pommern 4,050 tons), Viking (4,000 tons), Lavenir (3,700 tons), and Penang (3,250 tons).

On arrival at their destination they will be loaded with grain and other merchandise for Britain.

Captain Erickson, who is credited with having amassed a considerable fortune with his sailing ships, has a fleet of 26 vessels with a gross tonnage of 68,670.

NEW SAFETY MATCH STRIKES ANYWHERE

(International News Service)

JONKOPING, Sweden, Nov. 22.—A safety match of an entirely new type will soon be placed on the international market by the Swedish Match company here.

Unlike the brand now in use all over the world, the new match will ignite when struck against any dry, rough surface.

Packed in flatter boxes, more convenient for carrying in pockets or handbags, the match will be sold at the same price as those now on the market.

CITY COMPETES WITH GASOLINE STATIONS

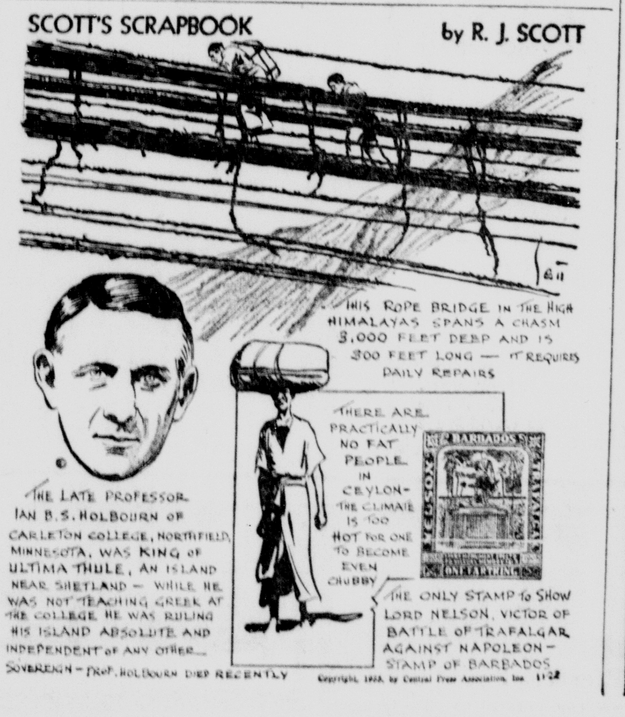

OGDEN, Utah—Ogden is now the retail gasoline business, the first city in Utah to compete with the private oil industry.

Gasoline was placed on sale in city pumps at 18 cents per gallon, including state tax.

Entrance of the city into business resulted from a long controversy between oil companies and the mayor over the price of gasoline. The mayor contended that the two cents differential between prices in Ogden and in surrounding territory was not justified.

And yet, 100 years from now our proudest organization may be the Daughters of Relief Families.

Over 700 Women On Relief To Get Work

Dr. Mildred Rogers Of New Castle Outlines Plan At Beaver

NEW BRIGHTON, Pa., Nov. 22—More than 700 women, on direct relief will be put to work under a plan sponsored by the WPA, Dr. Mildred Rogers of New Castle, outlined the plan to Red Cross workers and the Beaver county commissioners at a meeting here today.

Pointing out that $151,000 in Federal funds was immediately available for employment for women Dr Rogers outlined projects which would include mending and making clothes for needy families.

County Commissioners Howard A. Hunter and Edward J. Schleiter, who were re-elected to the board, agreed to furnish rooms and machines at the court house. Distribution of articles for the work will be made through the board of commissioners and the Beaver County Chapter of the Red Cross.

The board of commissioners will be compelled to take over several hundred families, December 1. There are no funds available for this purpose, and the board is hoping for an extension by those in charge.

Chart Course For Delegates At Conference

U. S. Naval Delegates Told Not To Bring Up Far East Questions

By KINGSBURY SMITH
International News Service Staff Correspondent
(Copyright, 1935, By International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—In the hope of saving the world from a peace-menacing international race in naval armaments, the United States will refrain from raising far eastern political questions at the Londan naval conference.

This was learned today as the state department charted the course to be followed by the American delegation.

Flagrant Violation.

Although this government views Japan's militaristic activities in China as an outright and flagrant violation of the nine-power Pacific pact, it does not intend to take any initiative at London in pressing the relationship of that pact to the naval treaties.

The view prevails here that if the far eastern political situation is injected into the conference, it will bring to the fore such a divergence of views as to preclude any possibility of a naval agreement.

Therefore, the American delegates will refrain from raising political questions and seek to confine the conference to the technical side of the naval situation.

May Raise Question.

However, this does not mean the American delegation may not raise the question of need for fortification and development of American naval bases in the Pacific.

This administration views the Pacific naval base issue in a somewhat different light than the Republican administration did under former Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson.

It regards the question of fortifying the developing new bases for America's warships in the Pacific to be dependent upon the size of Japan's fleet rather than upon Japan's political moves in China.

Depends On Japan.

If Japan does not insist upon the need for a bigger navy, the American delegation will not insist upon the need for more naval bases, nor will it press the relationship of Japan's violation of the nine-power pact to the question of naval bases.

This represents a virtual reversal of the Stimson policy, which directly linked the nine-power pact, guaranteeing the so-called "open door" trade policy in China, to the naval treaties.

Warn Against Worthless Checks

"No one should cash a check for anyone unless they know the person who presents it," said Chief of Police J. F. Haven today after he had received information that several bad checks have been cashed recently.

This morning a man presented a check at the H. G. Preston company. The check was purported to be drawn on the "Citizens and Southern National bank", made payable to William Palmer nd signed by Charles Hausen. It called for $30. The man bought goods and received $11 in change.

The checks are supposed to be certified, the heading being printed by rubber stamp, according to Haven.

WAMPUM, Nov. 22.—Mrs. W. D. Dickson of Main street was taken to the Ellwood City hospital this morning suffering with a broken right leg, sustained in a fall.

She was engaged in cleaning the outside of some windows at her home, and was standing on a stool, when in some manner the stool upset and she was thrown to the ground, sustaining the fracture of her leg.

Mrs. Henry Bohlman was walking along the street at the time and went to Mrs. Dickson's assistance.

Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Morrow of Wampum, who reached the scene in a short time, took the injured woman to the Ellwood City hospital, where the fracture was given attention.

Dr. Dickson, husband of the injured woman, had just left for a trip ot the Pittsburgh district when the accident happened, the mishap occurring about 8 o'clock.

City Must Provide Police Pension Fund

City Solicitor Formally Notifies Council Fund Is Compulsory

City Solicitor Robert White today during council meeting at the City Hall, formally advised council that the body must make an appropriation when the budget is compiled for police pensions. The letter he gave council was referred to council.

He said that council shall appropriate not less than one-half per cent and not more thar one per cent of all city taxes collected, which for 1935, would be $365.839.59, according to White's estimate. The police also must contribute to the fund, according to his letter.

"What a boy you are for asking questions," said the father. "I'd like to know what would have happened if I'd asked as many questions when I was a boy."

"Perhaps," suggested the young hopeful, "you'd have been able to answer some of mine."

Edith Maxwell Plans To Become Nurse When Free

Miss Edith Maxwell

(International News Service)

WISE Va., Nov. 22.—Edith Maxwell, pretty and high spirited mountain school teacher who rebelled against the stern code of the Lonesome Pine country and now faces a quarter of a century in jail, plans to go to New York and study nursing if she ever "comes free."

Her life, she told her brother Earl, is broken in these Virginia hills. Her defense attorneys plan an appeal, but that will be a legal matter only. It will not alter the feeling of the hill patriarchs who heard a mountain jury say Edith was guilty of first degree murder.

Will Try To Forget

And so the city, with its new fangled notions that a decent girl doesn't have to go to bed when the chickens go to roost, calls Edith again. In the thousands who live their workaday lives without too much curiosity as to the next-door neighbors, she hopes to find forgetfulness of the mad night when she killed her Daddy because he tried to whip her for staying out late with her beau.

"If Edith comes free, as we believe she will," said her brother Earl, "she will go away to New York. She will go in training to be a nurse. She can't live here any more —that's certain."

News Briefs From City Hall

While walking along Boyles avenue at 8:40 o'clock last night Mrs. Bertha Reitz of Neshannock boulevard had her purse snatched by one of three youths. They escaped by running through Logan street. The purse did not contain money. However, it contained street car checks and keys.

Police at 9:30 a. m. today guarded roads leading from West Middlesex to this city when a report was received from that place that a car filled with men with guns in their possession sped through the town. Heavily armed police in cruiser cars were sent out. No such car was found.

Two attempts have been made to enter Stevens store in McCleary avenue, according to a report made to police. The thieves got into the cellar one night and attempted to remove the shutter from a window on another occasion. Police are searching for the perpetrators.

Horace Weeder and Jack Lindsey, Ashville, N. C., were arrested on a charge of suspicion early this morning. They were suspected of attempting to pilfer from parked automobiles. They are held in jail for inquiry by detectives.

YES, THAT IS THE WAY

"Does yo' take this woman for yo' lawfully wedded wife?" asked the colored parson, glancing at the diminutive, watery eyed, bowlegged bridegroom, who stood beside 210 pounds of feminine assurance.

The number of motion picture theatres in the United States has declined from 22,721 in 1930 to about 10,000 in 1934.

Americans Make Formal Complaint

MISTAKEN FOR BRITISH PARTY

By VINCENT De PASCAL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

MILAN, Italy, Nov. 22.—Dr. and Mrs. F. Mersch and Dr. and Mrs. J. L. Bollman, all of the United States, lodged a complaint with the American consulate here today that they were mobbed by Fascists in demonstrations against league of nations sanctions when they arrived in Padua, November 20.

The two men are physicians of the Mayo Brothers Institute in Rochester, Minn.

They said they were mistaken for Britons because their American car, although it bore an American flag, was tagged with an English license plate left on it after a visit in England.

The two physicians and their wives complained their car was damaged in a savage scuffle and that the American flag was torn down, insulted and hurled at them.

According to the statements of the two men, the demonstration continued for more than half an hour before the angry mob could be pacified by police, who had difficulty in convincing the rioters the physicians and their wives were Americans.

The next morning, police escorted the party in their car out of the city to prevent further demonstrations. They came to Milan, where their complaint was lodged.

Steel Workman At Pittsburgh Blast Victim

Twenty-Four Others Suffer Burns When Steel Mold Explodes

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 22.—Accumulating gas that formed an inflammable pocket was believed today to have caused a steel mold to explode in the Mesta Machine Co. at nearby West Homestead, bringing death to one workman and injury to 24 others.

The dead man was John Eve, West Homestead. He died in a hospital from burns and other injuries suffered when caught under a rain of molten metal that sprayed a large portion of the plant when the mold exploded while being filled with hot metal. The victim, witnesses said, was atop the ladle at the time of the blast.

The exposion occurred a few minutes before the 3 o'clock afternoon shift was finishing its turn.

Two of the injured are on the danger list. They are Robt. Schewppe shop superintendent, Pittsburgh and Fritz Buhr, also of Pittsburgh.

DRAKE WELL PARK DEEDED TO STATE

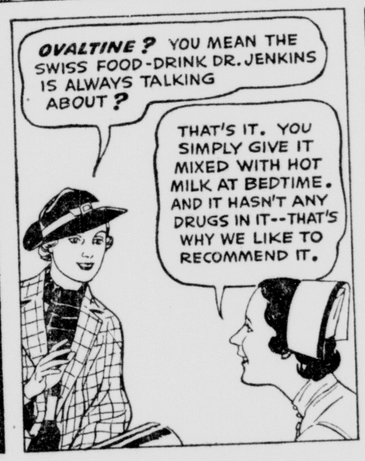

HARRISBURG, Pa.—Dr. Lester K. Ade, superintendent of Public Instruction and chairman of the Pennsylvania Historical Commission, following a recent meeting of the commission, announced that final transfer of the Drake Well Memorial Park had been made to the Department of Forests and Waters in accordance with an act passed at the 1935 session of the General Assembly. The park, near Titusville, had been under jurisdiction of the Historical Commission since 1931. The park marks the site of the drilling of the first successful oil well in the world in 1859.

And Now . . . Read What These Delighted Users Write:

"Usually I have lain in bed from 2 to 3 hours before going to sleep. The first night after taking Ovaltine I went to sleep almost at once after I hit the pillow. After I had taken it for 3 nights, my nerves were much steadier and my brain much more clear. You may use this letter as an honest testimonial. It is unsolicited and written in good faith."—writes Mr. Edward Felker of Erie, Pa.

Another letter, from Mrs. A. Collamer, c/o Hospital, Atkinson, Nebr., says, in part:—"I find Ovaltine very beneficial in cases of nervousness, especially when taken at bedtime. After a hard day's work, a cup of Ovaltine in hot milk relaxes the nerves amazingly and does away with tossing and restlessness while sleeping."

These letters cover, of course, only two individual experiences. Naturally, we do not claim or guarantee that similar results will occur in every case where Ovaltine is used. But these statements are so typical of thousands we have received, that we believe a thorough trial of Ovaltine is justified by every intelligent person in cases of "nerves" and sleepless nights.

Ovaltine is a delicious pure food concentrate, first created in Switzerland as a strengthening food for nervous, underdeveloped children—as well as for invalids, convalescents, and the aged. Then physicians noted that, when taken as a hot drink at bedtime, it was also a remarkable aid to sound, restful sleep.

But don't judge Ovaltine merely by what users claim for it. See for yourself how remarkable it is. Phone your druggist or grocer for a tin of Ovaltine now. Or, if your need is not immediate and urgent, mail the coupon for a 3-day, trial supply.

SCHOOL BOARD HAS MEETING

Some Routine Matters Are Discussed And Action Taken Last Night

Following a joint meeting with the city and county officials Thursday night, the New Castle School board held a special meeting of its own at which general business was taken up.

A letter was received from R. E. Pettit, assistant secretary of the Workers Progressive Association in which he asked who was going to furnish shoes for school children this winter. The letter was referred to Dr. C. C. Green, superintendent, for action and answer.

One barrel of oil at 75¾ cents per gallon and one barrel of turpentine at 56½ cents per gallon was ordered from the Spencer Company to complete several painting projects of the WPA now under way.

Council Favors Three Ordinances

About $30,000 Of 1934 Improvement Fund To Help Pay For Projects

Council met in the city building today and reported favorably from committee and ordered printed, pending final passage, three ordinances, one of which pertains to a sewer, another to an appropriation for a heating plant and the third an appropriation for city improvements aided by the WPA.

The sewer which will be built by WPA labor will be laid in Center street. There is no sanitary sewer now. It will run for 700 feet. The city will pay for the materials and the cost of the material will be assessed against abutting property-owners.

One of the other bills calls for the payment of $1,484, for the construction of a vapor heating plant at the city golf course, a contract having been awarded a local contractor some time ago.

The other ordinance provides for the extending of an appropriation passed in 1934 for general improvements to provide for improvements yet to be made this year. It was known as 4CB special and appropriated $100,000, for the paving of cartways and alleys. The new bill provides that the money left, approximately $30,000, can be used to pay for general improvements which are aided by the WPA.

G. B. Zeigler was elevated from a lieutenancy to a captaincy and Frank H. Robinson was promoted from the rank of private to a lieutenancy in the paid fire department today by council, which met in City Hall. The promotions were recommended by D. O. Davies, superintendent of public safety.

When council met, a list of eligibles for promotion from a lieutenancy to a captaincy was read, as follows: G. B. Zeigler, William McConnell and William Scott. The list of eligibles for a lieutenancy consisted of Ralph Montgomery Frank H. Robinson and Clyde Rohrer.

After these men had been promoted council concurred in the recommendation that George H Ward be elected a city fireman. He was one of the six men named from the civil service list to the fire department some time ago.

After the six had worked vacations they were laid off. Since then William Bowen has been appointed and today Ward was named as a regular member of the department

PUT EVEREADY PRESTONE
THE GUARANTEED ANTI-FREEZE
in your car today...and be safe the entire winter.

FIND YOUR CAR ON THIS CHART

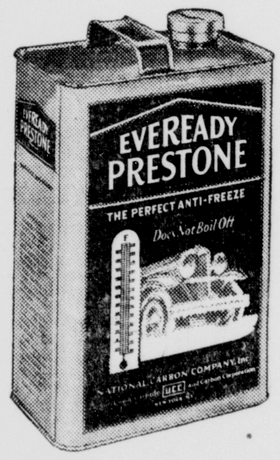

IMPORTANT! The price per gallon of an anti-freeze means nothing unless you know how many gallons you will need during the entire winter. You can't get that information on a boil-away anti-freeze. But you can get it for Eveready Prestone...and here it is. See how reasonably you can get two-way protection all winter long against both freeze-up and rust with one shot of Eveready Prestone—one shot because it won't boil off, no matter how warm the weather gets between the cold snaps. If your car isn't on this chart, your dealer has a chart showing all cars; and amounts needed for temperatures to 62° below zero.

WON'T BOIL AWAY..PREVENTS RUST..HAS NO ODOR..FULLY GUARANTEED

Don't delay...drive to your service station or garage today and have Eveready Prestone put in the radiator. That "one shot" will free you of all cooling system freeze-up and rust problems for the entire winter. The chart above shows the exact amount your car will need for complete, all-winter protection.

Ask your dealer this one question

More than 100 brands of anti-freeze are being marketed under various names. Most of them are based on alcohol, and because many are not plainly labeled it is easy to become confused. Just ask your dealer this simple question about any anti-freeze you are considering buying: "How much of this product is alcohol?" That is important, for alcohol, no matter how disguised or what it is called, is subject to evaporation, leaving you without adequate protection.

Your dealer will tell you that Eveready Prestone contains no glycerine, no alcohol . . . and that it will not boil off or evaporate. Then ask him to show you the specific guarantee on Eveready Prestone...in black and white, which is your definite assurance of all-winter protection.

Argument Over Trade Pact Grows

Interests Whose Products Are Affected Are Increasing Protests

TRADE NEEDED MORE STIMULUS

Central Press
Washington Bureau
1900 S street

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Staff Writer.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—The recently concluded reciprocal trade bargain between the United States and Canada is not what it generally is called—a treaty.

It is an executive agreement, of a type which congress authorized the president to enter into with foreign countries.

If it were a treaty it would have to be ratified by the senate. Under the name of an agreement, although it may amount to a treaty, in effect, only the presidential signature was required to make it binding upon Uncle Sam for three years, beginning Jan. 1, 1936. Prime Minister MacKenzie King's signature does, indeed, require the Canadian parliament's indorsement, but that is a foregone conclusion; the prime minister's party has an enormous majority in the Dominion legislature.

A TERRIFIC HOWL

Of course there will be a terrific howl over the dicker—probably on both sides of the border; certainly on this side. In fact, the outcry has begun already.

Government experts insist, to be sure, that the compact is so shaped as to prove of much greater benefit to the United States than to Canada. Nevertheless, a considerable number of large interests (notably lumber, grain, fisheries and livestock) are horrified to see protective tariff rates on their products scaled down. The experts admit that maybe such interests will be forced by the tariff reduction to cut their prices somewhat; even so, they argue, the reductions are for the greatest good of vastly the greatest number. But that is no comfort to the afflicted interests.

These interests are in an awful state of mind right now, and undoubtedly will get progressively noisier. In the long run, the experts assure them, they, too, will profit, by indirection, from the general improvement in business, which they predict, as a sequel to the trade bargain.

FOES WILL YELL LOUDER

Lumber, grain, fisheries, livestock and others do not want to wait for the "long run", however, nor does the idea of "indirection" appeal to them.

Their lamentations will make the welkin ring with no delay whatever. The other folk, who (if the experts are right) will benefit by the agreement, will not begin to purr with satisfaction for some time to come; they will be slow in realizing that they are benefiting. Indeed, they may never realize that reciprocity is what they are indebted to for improved conditions—if any.

Consequently, for the next few months at least, vocal indications are sure to be that the agreement is very unpopular, because its foes will be screeching bloody murder, its friends will be on the defensive and the bulk of the citizenry, not understanding the situation anyway, will be silent.

All the "hollering" will be anti-agreement.

WILL OPPOSITION LAST?

The agreement, be it remembered, has three years to run.

At the end of three years perhaps it will be perfectly apparent that it was an excellent agreement, in which event all attacks on it will have flattened out and everybody will want to continue it.

But will the anti-agreement uproar have subsided by next election day?—less than a year hence.

PLEASANTER RELATIONS

There is no denying that Canadian-American trade relations need[ed] rehabilitation.

Once there were years when Canada was the best foreign customer of the United States—the trade volume having reached nearly an annual billion. Of late it has fallen to a measly couple of hundreds of millions.

It incensed the Canadians and they have been retaliating.

For example:

They have changed rates over night, by "orders in council". They have discriminated against American ports. They have revalued American goods seeking entry. That is to say, if an American exporter put the value of an article, honestly, at $1, it has been the Canadian authorities' custom to answer, arbitrarily, "No, its value is $2"—thereupon taxing it accordingly.

RED RAIN FALLS, RUINS CITY'S DRESS

MELBOURNE—Red rain fell on the city and suburbs here coloring the streets and spotting the clothes of pedestrians.

The shower, which was short, fell at 10 p. m. Its coloring is believed due to red dust swept down from Central Australia.

When the rain stopped it was found that the streets and stationary motorcars were covered with a deposit of red, and light frocks and suits of pedestrians were stained with red spots.

AROUND CITY HALL

Police chronology for 24 hours ending at 3:30 p. m., November 21, five arrests on charges as follows: Drunkenness, 3; and suspicion, 2.

A danger to automobiles which may skid off the cartway is being eliminated in Etna street, according to Carmi Glover, streets commissioner, who stated that a guard railing is being constructed on the south side of Etna street. A hollow is located immediately south of the south sidewalk in that street.

Police have been receiving one day's rest in seven. Firemen have not. However, an agreement was reached between firemen and Safety Director D. O. Davies sometime ago to the effect that firemen would receive the same rest period as police, next January. The police department is below quota. When the day off is granted firemen that department will be below quota. No doubt Safety Director Davies and Mayor Mayne will make requests for additional subordinates when they submit their departmental budgets. The police department has no pension system, although such is provided for by law. The firemen have a working pension system. The council must arrange for police pensions when the appropriations are made.

For some time there has been an undercurrent to the effect that the WPA will not do any work at Cascade Park because the WPA is not fully approving the deed on the property. When the present members of council and the incoming members gather to discuss budget matters probabilities are that the deed phase will be gone into thoroughly. It is reported that repairs must be made next spring on the roof of Rainbow Terrace. Other work is also necessary at the park. The park has not proved a paying proposition to the city. Very few believed it would as no municipal recreation center pays, as a rule. Some cities expend money on such places as a worthwhile expenditure without regard for a return. However, before any appropriation is made for the park in December the entire subject will be discussed so that the city officials know just where the city stands and what can be expected from the WPA.

Cop Attacked With Apples By Gulls

(International News Service)

VANCOUVER, B. C.—The veracity of Police Constable Alex McKay was endangered when he insisted seagulls had pegged apples at him while on duty at the city hall entrance.

McKay said he thought nothing of it when one apple whistled by his head but when others followed and passersby complained of the apple barrage he decided to make a tour of the building. On the tenth floor his search was rewarded.

Somebody had left a bag of apples on a window-sill. Marauding seagulls pecked holes in the bag, seized an apple in their beaks and tried to fly away. The task proved too much and they let the apples drop after flying a few feet with their burdens.

Her secretary, however, ventured an explanation:

"I am surprised that there is any question about that," said the secretary.

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—Blonde Vera Stretz, accused of cold bloodedly slaying philandering Dr. Fritz Gebhardt, braved the stares of hundreds of curiosity seekers in court Thursday with poise that was unshaken by the furore over her appearance and her ordeal in a prison cell.

The crowd fairly besieged her as she arrived at homicide court where police formed a flying wedge to open a passageway. Here the short affidavit charging murder was dismissed, and she was whisked away to a general sessions to plead to an indictment.

The murder indictment, returned against Vera by a grand jury, made her appearance to answer the murder affidavit a mere formality. Dismissal of the murder affidavit was necessary to pave the way for her arraignment on the indictment charging murder.

Chaplains Will Be Appointed In Army

Duly Accredited Clergymen In Certain Denominations Are Eligible

In a recent issue of the Recruiting News, published by the U. S. Army, it is announced that clergymen in civil life who desire appointment as chaplains in grade of first lieutenant in the regular army will be given an opportunity to enter examinations to be held next January 28 and 29.

The vacancies existing in the chaplain's corps at the present time do not cover all denominations, however. Only duly accredited clergymen of the Baptist (South), Methodist Episcopal, Missouri Synod (Lutheran), and United Brethren churches are eligible for the forthcoming examinations, according to the war department authority.

Eligibility for the examinations is confined to male citizens of the United States, between twenty-three and thirty-four years of age, regularly ordained and in good standing with one of the specified denominations, who are graduates of both a four-year college course and a three-year theological seminary course and who are actively engaged in ministry with at least three years' experience therein.

The announcement states that formal applications should be made to the adjutant general, War Department, Washington, D. C., not later than January 8, 1936, and should be accompanied by a small photograph, at least three letters of recommendation and the proper ecclesiastical endorsements.

BLUE DANUBE IS DRYING UP

BELGRADE—The famous Danube river is drying up—as a result of heat and drought unprecedented for this time of year.

The Danube and Sava, which meet under the walls of Belgrade, are now lower than for more than 50 years. In many places people can wade across them.

All navigation on the Sava has been abandoned and many ships are stranded on sand banks. On the Danube only small vessels of less than four feet draught can pass.

River service between Belgrade and Vienna has stopped.

DOG SAVES MASTER BURIED BY SLIDE

(International News Service)

MUNICH—Buried to the neck in a gravel pit avalanche, a peasant of Muehldorf, Central Bavaria, was saved by his faithful dog.

The peasant, August Thurmeier, was buried with his head pinned between the wheels of the cart he was loading.

If the oxen hitched to it moved only a few inches his head would have been crushed like an egg shell. His dog dug into the gravel furiously with its paws.

Forty minutes later it had set its master free.

YOUR CAR NEEDS "Lubricated Starting"

YOU not only lose time with a slow-starting winter gasoline, but money, too! Every extra turn of the starter wastes battery power. Every extra pull on the choke increases gasoline consumption. You are safe with Tydol... it's the one gasoline built to give instant "lubricated starting". This amazing gasoline contains a cold-proof, top-cylinder oil that actually lubricates cold-stuck valves and pistons into quicker, surer, safer starting. Tydol is different! Yet it costs no more than ordinary gasolines.

Would You Pay 25c To Feel Ten Years Younger?

We Are Introducing Indo-Vin For Two Days ONLY at 25c

Everyone who is discouraged about the way they feel can have an introductory bottle of Indo-Vin to try for 25 CENTS. Simply read the offer below. Do this in your own interest.

This scientific medicine has helped 85 (or 90) percent of those who have taken it, so we offer a trial bottle at 25c because we believe the people who are benefited will keep on using it. The regular full-size price of this medicine is $1.25.

Medical Help of a New Kind

Each Bottle Has These Ingredients:

CINCHONINE: stimulates and tones the stomach

PEPSIN: digests proteins; works with food

SENNA, ALOIN: natural laxatives; gentle but thorough

BILE SALTS: stimulates liver bile; necessary to health

Indo-Vin is taken after meals and mixes with the food in one's stomach, helping to throw off poisons that foster stomach troubles and permitting the liver and bowels to function more properly. It often acts in 10 minutes to stop gas and pains, sourness and bloating. It helps to eliminate the old bile from your liver and increases fresh bile flow, so necessary to health. Thus it relieves sick headache, biliousness, dizzy spells and lazy, drowsy feelings. By its remarkable action on the liver, this medicine often makes one feel "TEN YEARS YOUNGER"

Whether it will help you as it has thousands of others—whether it will end your suffering in a day or a week—remains to be seen. But in light of what it has done for others, it is surely a mistake not to try it for 25c, only a fraction of its worth. This offer is good today and tomorrow ONLY.

WHAT IT WILL DO!

Indo-Vin will cleanse your bowels (gradually not drastic or severe) as they were NEVER CLEANSED BEFORE. It will bring out gases and impurities (frequently from the first dose) which may have been in your system a long time, causing you months of misery.

It helps make the digestive organs sweet and clean, and will give you the greatest appetite you EVER HAD.

By its GREAT action on the liver, bowels, and stomach, it often clears up skin eruptions (caused by impurities in the organs) and overcomes sallow, "muddy" complexion.

So, if you are rundown, headachy, sick and bilious, then at least give Indo-Vin a trial. Do this in fairness to yourself. To get your first bottle for 25c (today and tomorrow ONLY) bring coupon to our store.

Beaver Falls Woman Named

Mrs. George R. Hemphill President Of G. O. P. Women Of State

CONVENTION ENDS AT HARRISBURG

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Nov. 22.—Messages calling for Republican organizations and echoes of attacks on Democrats spread to various sections of Pennsylvania today in the wake of the 13th annual convention of the State Council of Republican Women, whose sessions were concluded here yesterday.

The conclave ended on a strong party note, sounded by Henry P. Fletcher, chairman of the Republican national committee, and Justice George W. Maxey of the state supreme court. Both assailed Democratic policies and called for a united G. O. P. front.

Justice Maxey outlined six steps as "necessary to end the depression," mentioning as the first step the "liberation of American business from the bog of bureaucracy and the blight of the brain trust". Fletcher termed Washington a "madhouse" at the present time and warned that "America is headed for the last round-up if the Democrats are returned to power" at next year's election.

Following the final addresses, officers of the council, headed by Mrs. George R. Hemphill, Beaver Falls, president, were presented and final action taken on reports of the committee on resolutions.

"Sound Currency" Call.

Among the resolutions adopted were those calling for the establishment of a "sound currency", a reduction in the "excessive costs of government", for annually balanced state and federal budgets, and the expression of a belief in private ownership and management of business and industry under adequate government regulation.

Two resolutions were received from the Erie county council of Republican Women, calling for the recommendation of the passage of legislation providing for the nomination and election of all judges of courts of record in the state on a non-partisan ballot, and recommendation for the passage of legislation providing for the nomination and election of school directors in each school district in the state on a non-partisan ballot.

In addition to the legislation endorsed, the group submitted, for legislative support, permanent registration, with proper safeguarding; abolition of the fee system of tax collecting; fixing the salaries of local officers by local ordinance subject to control as to maximum salaries by statute, and adequate appropriation for the mothers' assistance fund.

Besides Mrs. Hemphill, Mrs. Barclay H. Warburton, Wyncote, was re-elected honorary president; Mrs. Worthington Scranton Scranton, first vice president; Miss S. M. R. O'Hara, Wilkes-Barre, second vice president; Mrs. Clifton A. Verner, Pittsburgh, third vice president; Mrs. Hannah M. Durham, fourth vice president; Mrs. Humbert Borton Powell, Decon, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. Charles B. Long, Lancaster, treasurer.

Mrs. Samuel B. Scott, Philadelphia, was elected recording secretary and the following were named directors to serve for two years:

Mrs. George R. Lamade, Williamsport, and Mrs. Benjamin Jones, Blossburg, were elected directors for one year terms.

Pulaski Dinner Proceeds Going To Hospital Here

A splendid demonstration of the Pulaski community's interest in the Jameson Memorial hospital was the dinner event conducted Thursday evening in the Pulaski M. E. church, the entire proceeds from which are being turned over to the hospital.

The delicious chicken dinner was served by the ladies of the church, beginning at 5 o'clock, and guests arrived in a steady stream during the hour which followed. There were many from New Castle.

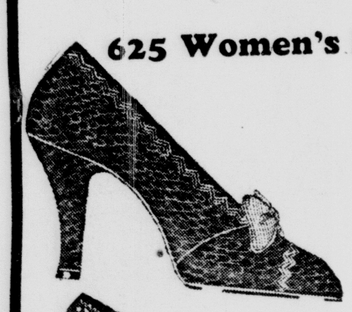

In addition to the sum of money secured through the sale of tickets, a splendid gift of canned fruits, vegetables and jellies is also being given to the hospital. These jars and glasses of homemade goodies were on display in the church.

STAMP NEWS FROM EVERYWHERE

BY JOHNRAE EARL, SEC. NEW CASTLE STAMP CLUB.

Today marks the first appearance of the new 25c value Trans-Pacific air mail stamp at San Francisco which was named by Postmaster General James A. Farley as the city for the first day issuance of these new stamps.

This new stamp is arranged horizontally and despite the fact that four vessels and a seaplane are depicted on the stamp there is no evidence of crowding, as the subjects are all kept rather small. This new stamp was designed by Alvin R. Meissner, of the Bureau of Engraving and Printing. Mr. Meissner also designed the Michigan commemorative, which has been well received from one end of the country to the other.

One of the interesting sidelights at the air mail ceremonies, which brought a smile to the face of various reporters present, was when the postmaster general, after returning to the hands of the printer the first-run sheets, turned to Col. William Moran, chief of the United States Secret Service, and remarked, "The sheets are all there and accounted for, and there isn't an autograph on any of them."

The local postoffice officials state that these new stamps will not be received here due to the fact that the demand would not be large enough to warrant a requisition for a quanity of them. New Castle collectors who wish to receive these stamps, therefore, will be forced to send to the Philatelic agency at Washington, D. C.

THE ADVENTURES OF THESEUS

Theseus was a King of Athens in those dim times before the beginnings of recorded history. Thrilling legends have sprung up about him. The stories tell how he killed Sinis the Pine Bender, who slew travelers by tearing them asunder between two pine trees. Next he tossed over a cliff the wicked Sciron, who used to kick his guests into the sea while they were washing their feet. Later he met the wicked Procrustes, who forced all visitors to sleep in a bed of certain size, stretching them on the rack to the right size if they were too small, chopping them off if they were too large! Theseus left him stretched on his own bed.

Most famous of the adventures of Theseus was his journey to the island of Crete and into the Labyrinth, where King Minos kept a ferocious bull, the Minotaur. Every year the Athenians had been forced to sacrifice a shipload of youths and maidens to this monster, until the brave Theseus made his way into the maze, unwinding a ball of cord behind him to lead him out again, and dispatched the Minotaur with his sword. The mat of the stamp which I have illustrated bearing the Temple of Theseus was furnished through the courtesy of H. E. Harris and Company, Boston.

MICHIGAN SALES GIVEN

Covers cancelled on the first day at Lansing, Michigan totaled 176,962, which compares with 12,170 the following day at Washington. Stamps sold at Lansing were in the amount of $16,732.38; the following day at Washington sales totaled $10,439.67. The Washington figures may be sub-divided as follows:

Window sales	$3,677.12
Mail orders	4,812.55
Wash. City Post Officiel	950.00

Even including the advance mail orders prepared at the agency for mailing on the first day of sale, the total sales at Washington are only a little over half as large as the Michigan first-day output.

Found another Boulder Dam variety, No. 26 LR. 21466 has a dash of color under the top curve of "G" found in the letter "Postage".

And speaking of seeing things in the Bolder Dam stamp I have as yet failed to find the president's profile in the upper left hand corner of the stamp. A little help along this line would be greatly appreciated and anyone that has located the profile of President Roosevelt on the stamp please get in touch with me immediately as I am very much interested in learning just where this "illusion" can be seen.

WHAT'S IT WORTH?

The Australian pound is worth four dollars—the standard British pound is worth five dollars; so watch your step when buying current Australian stamps at a little above face, the vast majority of dealers are honest but there are a few who would like you to believe that the Australian pound is worth five dollars.

SCIOTO BOYS WILL NOT MEET TONIGHT

Programs of Sciota street district boys' clubs which The Townsmen of the Y. M. C. A. sponsors Friday evenings during the fall and winter were cancelled for two weeks today.

The meetings of tonight and November 29 will not be held because no hall is available for the purpose.

Efforts to obtain a south side hall for later assemblies are now being made.

Recall Incident When He Downed California Governor At Banquet

LOCAL FUND IS SLOWLY GROWING

Will Rogers once was ribbing Gov. Frank Merriam of California, at a banquet. Merriam, in the middle of his speech, complained that Rogers' conversation with the lady at his right, distracted the guests from his own speech.

"I apologize," said Rogers, humbly. "I was just asking the lady on my right who the distinguished speaker was and she didn't know . . . so, we had to ask the question all around the table."

Contributions are coming in slowly but surely, Chairman Fred L. Rentz reported today, and urged local citizens desiring to contribute to remember that the local campaign will end Thanksgiving Day. Those wishing to contribute are asked to make their donations prior to this time. This can be done by filling in the coupon below and mailing or bringing to the office of The News Company, or handing to any officer of the Lions, Rotary, Kiwanis, or Junior Chamber of Commerce.

RELIEF MONEY USED BY FATHER FOR DRINK

UNIONTOWN, Pa., Nov. 22.—With his children in rags and compelled to make their beds in a chicken coop, Andy Lasecek, of Leith, today was sought by Special Officer Walter Brown on a charge of cruelty.

NAVAL NOTES

By M. L. NIXON
Naval Recruiter, Second Floor Federal Building

All ships in the navy have nicknames. For instance, the battleship Utah and the cruiser Salt Lake City are known as the "Mormon" ships; the cruiser Louisville, "Lady Lou"; the battleship West Virginia, "The Mountaineer"; the cruiser Chicago, "Big Shot"; the dirigible Macon was known as the "Platinum Blonde".

Over 5,000 devices and plans for salvage and safety on submarines have been tried out by the technical experts of the United States Navy to make the ships safer for the men that man them. The mode of escape now used is known as the "Momsen Lung", a device that a man entrapped in a sunken vessel may strap to his chest and carry his own air supply with him in his ascent to the surface.

George O'Brien, motion picture actor, was the light heavyweight champion of the United States Navy in 1919. It is said that at least once in each picture he makes, Mr. O'Brien wears the same undershirt he was wearing when he won the championship, thinking it brings him good luck.

* * *

The Mare Island Navy Yard at Vallejo, California is the largest industrial plant west of the Mississippi river. It not only maintains the ships already in service but builds new ones. One of the latest built at that yard is the U. S. S. Pompano, one of the new fleet type submarines.

WAR PRISONER BACK AFTER TWO DECADES

(International News Service)

VIENNA—After 21 years in Siberia, an Austrian taken prisoner by Russians during the Great War has at last returned to Vienna.

He is Leo Kainz, formerly private in the 7th Austrian Imperial Infantry Regiment. During fighting between Austrian and Russian forces in 1914, he was taken prisoner and sent to a war prison at Tschistoje, near Omsk, Siberia.

In this bitterly cold and remote place he lived for 21 years. After the armistice, Kainz alleges, neither Russian nor Austrian authorities, he alleges, would pay his fare home.

After years of toil as a carpenter, he managed to save enough for the journey. But when Kainz reached the frontier, he found his savings had been stolen. So he toiled for five more years before starting for Austria again.

ARIZONA NAVY MAY GO IN ACTION AGAIN

(International News Service)

PARKER, Ariz.—Arizona's far-famed navy may soon be called into action.

Dissatisfied with the allocation of waters from the Colorado river, state officials have asked Mrs. Nellie B. Bush, Arizona's admiral, to hold in readiness her fleet of two ships which are anchored on the Colorado near here.

Two years ago Gov. B. B. Mouer ordered out the militia and the entire fleet to halt "aggression by California."

SHARON WILL SEND CROWD HERE FOR GAME

Sharon Excited Over Turkey Day Engagement Here

Over 1,000 Tickets Sent To Sharon, Expect Biggest Crowd Of Year

Home-Coming Day Plans Are Not Yet Completed, Cox Or Perrett To Start

Sharon is planning to move into New Castle bag and baggage next Thursday (it happens to be Thanksgiving) for the annual New Castle-Sharon high football battle at Taggart stadium. "Si" Lyman, sports editor at Sharon, is the authority for the statement that Sharon will send a big crowd here. Sharon is excited about this game.

Faculty Manager Ralph H. Gardner was all smiles today when informed that the 1,000 tickets sent to Sharon would not be enough. The tickets are going faster than hot cakes in a boarding house, according to those in Sharon. Turkey dinners will be delayed until 5 or 6 o'clock in Sharon so that everybody, including mamma, can go to New Castle to watch the big orange jerseyed team upset the "Red Hurricanes" coached by Phil Bridenbaugh.

Sharon Confident.

There is no fooling either about Sharon being confident of winning from New Castle. Sharon, they point with pride to the record of the Stewartmen. Six straight victories and New Castle will make seven straight, they say.

The athletic council at senior high is planning a big Home-coming day program for the minuets preceding the game and during the half. There will be any number of old grads here for the game and for Thanksgiving turkey with the family. It will be a great reunion.

The athletic council last night at a meeting set the following prices for the New Castle-Sharon game: General admission 50 cents, center section of concrete stands 75 cents. All other seats in the concrete stands are 50 cents and are reserved.

Students will pay the customary 25 cents. All children under 12 will get in for the usual dime. The bleacher seats will sell for 50 cents per ticket. Special section is being reserved for the Sharon high students and fans. Tickets are on sale at the Sporting Goods store and are meeting with a ready demand. There are many choice seats left.

The game will start at 2:15 p. m.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Fans will have their eyes focused on Boston tonight where Jack Sharkey will attempt a come-back against Eddie (Unknown) Winston, colored heavyweight in a 10 round bout. Reports from Beantown say the former heavyweight champion weighs 195 pounds and in training exhibited a large degree of the skill that enabled him to win decisions in his palmy days.

Customers paidw $7,400, to witness the wrestling bouts last night in Pittsburgh, the feature of which was the bout in which Danno O'Mahoney threw Gus Sonnenberg with an armlock in 14 minutes and 15 seconds. It was the largest crowd ever to see a wrestling bout in this vicinity and the show outdrew by more than three times the Freddy Miller-Norman Quarles featherweight boxing bout.

Merchants Plan For Fast Team

The New Castle Merchants basketball team will be back on the hardwood court this year with a stronger team than ever before, it was announced by Manager Dave Brown.

Wildcats To Open Season November 29

Frank Rozzi, manager of the Mahoning Wilcats, today reported that the basketball team is practicing for the opening game with the New Brighton Red Wings November 29. Last season the Wildcats lost by one point to the Red Wings. Games can be arranged by calling 3858. Sunday at the Rozzi home players named as follows are to report for a business session: Zumpella, Tunera, Calvanese, Stantell and Paccerello.

Grovers Hope To Upset Thiel In Battle Saturday

Coach Bill Amos Eases Up In Training For Crimson Players

GROVE CITY, Nov. 22—Far from satisfied, but forced to ease up on the hard work in the final practice of the season today, Coach Bill Amos is pessimistic over the chance of his Grove City team against its Mercer County rival, Thiel, here Saturday. Unable to match the Tomcats in power, Amos is hoping that his deceptive attack will click sufficiently to retain the string of Grove City victories that has extended unbroken since 1923.

In the last two years, an underdog Grove City eleven has risen to unexpected heights to defeat a favored Thiel team, each time with a last mniute rally. This week, the Crimson squad has put in long hours of practice,. hopeful of repeating the upsets in 1933 and 1934 but the prospect this year is not considered bright.

A serious blow fell Thursday when Bill White, only letter lineman, was ordered out of scrimmage when Coach Amos detected him limping badly. White admitted the ankle had bothered him for two weeks. He was sent to the hospital for an X-ray, and it was found that the ankle bone was chipped. A cast was applied and he will be unable to play in the final game. In addition, Bobby Shoch, flashy back, was ill and unable to report, although he may be in shape by Saturday.

With two of the 10 senior regulars, White and Harry Bream, out of action, Amos will start most of the other four-year men. Wilson, Pearce, Boswick and Ashwood will be in the starting line-up, while Dean, Mazur, Erskine and Gamble will get into their final game. Howard Wilson, the only four-year varsity men has ben able to play in only two games this season, since he was hurt, but is now in good condition for the climax game and will start at right halfback.

NEW CASTLE RIFLE CLUB WILL STAGE BIG SHOOT TONIGHT

The New Castle Rifle club will stage its big turkey shoot tonight at the Cathedral range at 7:30 o'clock. There will be a great many prizes available for the winners of the various shoots.

This an an annual affair by the New Caestle Rifle Club and according to Leo Hill, the event tonight will far surpass any of its kind ever attempted.

Unbeaten Teams Are Favored In Saturday Games

LIKES IRISH TO UPSET TROJANS

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—While men worked through the night erecting a chute from the club rooms to the padded cell, the fumble-finger A. C. held what was practically its last meeting today. At least, it looked like the last for a number of the members. Becoming somewhat confused on being driven into the runway with pikes and hooks, they misunderstood and, arriving in the padded cell, began behaving very strangely.

In fact, they threw away the cell. They also would have thrown away the pads, only some of the members, in a moment of reverie, had eaten them. I'm afraid we won't be able to use them again, meaning the members.

Picks Notore Dame

Anyhow, when last seen, they weren't fumbling with the rest of us. They were mumbling and, while this isn't altogether contrary to the code, it so sobered the survivors that we began picking tomorrow's football winners on the basis of reason. That is to say, we actually named the teams that, on past performance, have the better records, the result being that Princeton, California, Minesota, Southern Methodist and Texas Christian are nominated to remain unbeaten at the expense of Dartmouth, Stanford, Wisconsin, Baylor and Rice respectively.

In the same way Notre Dame is called over Southern California and even Yale over Harvard, although the latter was quite a struggle. Yale seemed so much the better team that it was only with the utmost reluctance that we were persuaded that the bulldog really deserved our confidence.

You are at liberty to drop the matter at this point. In fact, if you don't, it's your own fault.

East: Columbia over Brown; Army over Vermont; Yale over Harvard; Boston College over Boston University; Princeton over Dartmouth; Penn State over Bucknell Detroit over Duquesne (guardedly) Georgetown over Maryland Colgate over Rutgers a flier on Villanova over Temple (proving that our cure isn't permanent).

Middle West: Notre Dame over Southern California (very guardedly); Washington of St. Louis over Oklahoma A. and M.; a flier on Iowa State over Kansas (we're incurable); Kansas State over Missouri; St. Louis over De Paul; Ohio State over Michigan; Minnesota over Wisconsin; Indiana over Purdue (we probably swi che i that one just enough times to be wrong); Northwestern over Iowa (ditto that one); Illinois over Chicago; Marquette over Creighton.

South: Auburn and Georgia (no can do); Georgia Tech over Florida; Louisiana State over Southwest Louisiana; Tulane over Louisiana Normal; Duke over North Carolina State; Southern Methodist over Baylor; Texas Christian over Rice.

Far West: California over Stanford; Washington over Oregon (without too much confidence); U. C. L. A. over Loyola; Oregon State over Montana; Idaho over Nevada.

One best—nightstick over the head.

Jack Sharkey Fights Tonight

(International News Service)

BOSTON, Nov. 22.—Jack Sharkey, former champion of the world, who hit the "come-back" trail two years ago to find it much too tough, will try it again tonight at Boston Garden in a 10-round bout with Eddie "Unknown" Winston, Hartford, Conn., Negro. Sharkey was a 6-5 favorite.

The fight—the first for the ex-sailor since he was beaten by King Levinsky and Primo Carnera; he also received a boxing lesson from Tommy Loughran—was attracting unusual interest and 10,000 or more spectators were expected to turn out to see Sharkey in his latest attempt to regain his long lost laurels.

Increase Salary Of Judge Bramham Minor League Head

(International News Service)

DAYTON, O., Nov. 22.—The National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues Thursday increased the salary of its president, Judge W. G. Bramham, Durham, N. C., from $8,500 to $12,500.

Bill Manley, who for 25 years has been secretary of the International League, drew a $1,000 increase in pay.

The New York Yankees purchased Berbie Uhalt, outfielder, from Oakland, and will turn him over to Newark.

It was reported the minor leagues probably will vote tomorrow to hold next year's meeting in Montreal.

COLLEGE GRID NOTES IN BRIEF

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—Already at top form for the Brown game tomorrow, the Columbia Lions will take it easy today in a light dummy scrimmage. Coach Lou Little admits rather warily the Blue and White may beat the Brunonians.

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 22.— Coach Christy Flanagan's charges from Duquesne University went through the polishing-off process with light drills today in preparation for tomorrow's tilt with the Titans of the University of Detroit. Word from the enemy sector indicated that Coach Charles E. (Gus) Dorias will use the same lineup which routed Bucknell University 53-0.

HANOVER, N. H., Nov. 22.—Leaving behind one of the greatest send-offs ever given a Dartmouth team, thirty-four members of the undefeated football forces of the Big Green today were enroute for their biggest game of the season with undefeated Princeton.

NOTRE DAME, Ind., Nov. 22.—A turnout of 50,000 was predicted for the Notre Dame-Southern California game here tomorrow, by J. A. Haley, Notre Dame business manager, today. The squad concluded its practice work for the season yesterday, the final drill being much like the first. It consisted principally of blocking and tackling. Elmer Layden said he had not made any special offensive plans for tomorrow's battle.

MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 22.— Minnesota was prepared today to celebrate the winning of its second successive Big Ten championship the moment the gun ending tomorrow's game between the Gophers and Wisconsin is exploded. There was little doubt that the Gophers and Wisconsin is exploded. There was little doubt that the Gophers would win over the Badgers by a wide margin as Bernie Bierman sent his charges through their final practice of the season yesterday. Minnesota will be at full strength for the Badgers.

CHICAGO, Nov. 22.—The Southern California Trojans, enroute to Notre Dame by leisurely stages, were scheduled to work out here today. Yesterday Coach Howard Jones sent the Trojans through a vigorous practice session at Hutchinson, Kas., where the Californias were given a taste of the cold midwest weather they may expect at Notre Dame tomorrow.

Scouting Incident Brings Regrets To North Carolina U.

(International News Service)

CHARLOTTE, N. C., Nov. 22.—Jack Pool, president of the student body of North Carolina university, today publicly announced that the controversy over Duke's scouting the Tarheels with movie cameras was regretted.

"We regret deeply that some individuals have accused the Duke athletic authorities of using unethical, unfair and ungentlemanly tactics," Pool said.

Pirates Obtain Todd In Trade With Phillies

MINOR LEAGUE MEETING ENDS

By PAT ROBINSON
International News Service Sports Writer

DAYTON, O., Nov. 22—The Minor leaguers will wind up their annual pow-wow today in a blaze of glory, hot air and airy persiflage.

Nevertheless despite the tons of excess verbiage spilled on the premises, more deals were either put forward or actually consummated than ever before in the history of such gatherings.

Pirates Get Todd

The Pirates and cash-hungry Philadelphia moved to the front today with a deal that will put catcher Al Todd in a private uniform and sent catcher Bill Grace, Claude Passeau, a young right-hand pitcher from Des Moines and a bundle of cash to the Phils. The said bundle has been estimated at $30,000 which might be reasonably accurate in view of the fact the Phils had nerve enough to demand $60,000 in cash for Al as a starter.

Bill Terry went home happy after assuring everybody he got what he wanted and was all set for next year. But Bill didn't positively, and some of the doubters think he still may have a few irons in the fire.

In any event, it seems certain he got Burgess Whitehead in exchange for Bud Paramalee, as reported yesterday and today it seems equally probable he landed first baseman Johnny Mize from the Cardinal farm chain.

Rookie On Trial

It is understood Bill will give plenty of dough for Mize on an optional basis. If the lad makes good, Bill will keep him, if not, he'll return him with his compliments and will Mr. Branch Rickey kindly return that check.

This makes it evident Terry himself intends to play considerable first base next semester, and whenever he feels indisposed young Mr. Mize will be invited to step forth and show cause why he should not be doomed to return to the Cardinal chain gang. With such a damaclesian sword hanging over his conk, it is believed Mr. Mize will be impelled to show plenty.

Terry also put over one of the finest deals of the meeting when he landed an American league pitcher of class today. There is no maybe about this deal, it is all set. I am not at liberty to reveal the pitcher's name before Sunday but I can say the only reason the Giants are getting him is because his old club needs dough like Haile Selassie needs machine-guns, and because he couldn't get along with his old manager. The biggest surprise about the deal is that Terry could get him out of the American league.

Rickey Satisfied

Incidentally, I should say this right-hander will win more games for the Giants than Parmelee did last year.

Branch Rickey says he has done more business this session than ever before and Branch is an old hoss trader from away back. He has dealt right and left with majors and minors, consigning the Cardinal farm hands hitherto and yon in carload lots for players and cash, especially cash.

Profit-Taking Halts Advance In Stock Market

Market However, Starts Out Strong With Rush Of Buying, This Morning

By LESLIE GOULD
International News Service Financial Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—The stock market started off today in a rush of buying but its advance was quickly checked by heavy profit-taking.

Rails were the spearheads of the advance. Other strong spots included the coppers, golds and utilities. Irregularity was most pronounced in steels, motors, liquors and industrials.

During the first hour the ticker was four minutes behind most of the time. Big blocks were common, running to 25,000 shares in Wilson.

Buying in rails was heavy with blocks running to 5,600 shares in N. Y. Central. Gains ran to more than a point in Union Pacific.

Gold shares added to their advance of the last two days. U. S. Smelting rose two points. Anaconda hit a new high in active dealings.

Steels did little. The same was true of the motors, where small losses were the rule. Accessories were quiet.

Aggressive buying in Consolidated Gas stimulated the utilities. The demand for Wilson lifted the packing issues further. Liquors eased and the rest of the list was mixed.

Grains were strong and cotton eased. Bonds continued their advance led by rails. Gold currencies were steadied by intervention of the U. S. and British stabilization funds.

Follow Former Paths

One arm of the lava was following the 1843 flow toward Kona and through rich cattle land. The other branch was coursing over the 1899 flow toward Hilo.

The 1899 eruption threatened the entire city of Hilo, reaching within three miles of the seaport.

A sheep rancher who witnessed the initial eruption last night at 9 o'clock reported smoke and flames and boiling lava shot thousands of feet into the air and blanketed an area of five miles in the mountain country, 14,000 feet above sea level.

At midnight, tongues of flame were still shooting high into the sky and could be seen from here.

Flows Toward City

As the lava coursed down Mauna Loa, it flowed in an "L" angle toward the city of Kona on the west coast. The intervening ridge of the mountain, however, made it possible for one to split toward Kona and the second toward Hilo.

In addition to the report of the sheep rancher, other residents in the valley reported several streams of lava were crawling downward but will require hours to reach inhabited areas.

Despite the continued intensity of the eruption, it was emphasized there was no actual nor immediate danger to valley residents yet.

Twenty Miles from Town

Hilo, T. H., Nov. 22.—The molten sea of fiery lava creeping down the northeast slope of Mauna Loa volcano reached within 20 miles of Hilo this morning.

The stream was cutting a wide path at the rate of nearly two miles an hour. During the past eight hours the lava travelled 15 miles down the mountain slope.

As yet it had not reached the inhabited rich farming valleys.

It was hoped that the speed of the fiery demon would decrease when it reached the lowlands.

Fears were expressed by excited inhabitants of Hilo that the lava stream would reach this seaport city on the island of Hawaii by tonight unless the extreme activity of the rumbling volcano lessens in intensity.

The initial eruption occurred at 9 o'clock last night, continuing undiminished in tensity past midnight and early today.

Another arm of the lava bed was coursing down the west slope of the crater towards Kona on the opposite side of the island. It was feared this stream would reach the government coast road on the outskirts of Kona by tomorrow morning.

All police officers in the island were instructed to immediately report for duty. The crew of the coastguard Tiger was standing by to aid local authorities in supervising an orderly evacuation of the lowlands if such is necessary.

Honor Football Squad Thursday

BEAUTIFUL TROPHY PRESENTED TO TEAM

ELLWOOD CITY, Nov. 22.—Ellwood City high football squad was lauded for the completion of a successful season in an impressive fashion Thursday evening when they were the guests of the Manos theater. A near capacity crowd of the local citizenry witnessed and participated in the program for the evening.

Coach "Denny" Schill and his squad were deeply touched for the honor extended them by Bernard Buchheit, manager of the theater, and the local public. The program was carried out in a beautiful setting. The theater in and out was decorated in the blue and white school colors, including the ushers. The stage was bedecked with lovely white chrysanthemums, other garden flowers, and artificial grass. The high school band and the grid squad of 75 were situated on the stage. Above their heads was a picture of an Ellwood Wolverine.

The program opened at 9 o'clock with a selection by the band. Burgess Judd C. Turner presided as chairman of the occasion and heartily commended Coach Schill for the completion of a successful season. He praised the fine sportsmanship and spirit not only of the team, but the students and general public as well. He stated that there had not been one disorder at Lincoln field or any game away this year. The team and community has been praised for its sportsmanlike conduct.

After another selection by the band and few cheers under the direction of the cheerleaders, Burgess Turner called upon Fred Robuck, reporter for The News. He related some interesting facts on the current grid season and a few anecdotes in regards to Coach Schill and his team.

Little Gene McDonald then sang the school's fight song, after which Burgess Turner presented Coach Schill. He expressed his admiration and appreciation for the honors bestowed upon the team and himself by Mr. Buchheit and the people of Ellwood City. Coach Schill praised the team for the spirit shown on the field the entire season and the remarkable manner in which they took up new things considering the fact that they had no spring training. It was an unusually intelligent squad and a pleasure to work with, Coach Schill stated. A huge burst of applause went up when Coach Schill introduced Assistant Football Coach, "Dutch" Croft and assistant basketball coach, Jerry Newton.

Mr. Buchheit, who sponsored the program, then presented a beautiful silver football trophy to Captain Mike Kraynak with a few well chosen words in behalf of the Manos theater. Captain Kraynak responded feelingly and thanked Mr. Buchheit and the local public in behalf of the squad.

Automobile Guests Sue For Damages

Driver Of Car And Bus Line Involved In Accident Are Defendants

Jesse A. Fehl and Adam Dambach, of Ellwood City, have filed suits at the Lawrence county prothonotary's office against the Ohio-Penn Coach Lines and G. C. Denniston to recover damages for injuries sustained in an auto accident on the New Castle-Youngstown road, west of New Bedford.

On January 13, 1934, the plaintiffs, with Harry M. Ringer, were guests in the Denniston car. The party had been to Youngstown, O., and were returning home. It was raining and freezing and the road was quite slippery.

A short distance east of the Pennsylvania-Ohio state line, the car of Denniston skidded. When Denniston brought it to a stop it was crosswise on the road. While it was in that position a bus of the Ohio-Penn Coach Lines, operated by George B. Cochran, struck the Denniston car, wrecking it and injuring the plaintiffs.

To Make Plans For Treasurer's Bond And Help

At a joint meeting of the school board and city council Thursday night the question of clerk hire and bond expense in the office of the city treasurer was discussed. A committee consisting of School Director Walter W. Duff and Councilman Albert Hoyland, with the two solicitors, R. M. White and W. J. Moffatt was appointed to investigate the costs and make an early report.

Mr. White explained that there was some ambiguity in the wording of the act concerning the treasurer's bond expense. Under the old act the schools required a performance bond for the collection of the taxes and the city merely required a fidelity bond.

The two solicitors will study the act and decide upon the division of the cost for the bonds, and the number and salaries of clerks in the new treasurer's office will be determined.

Haile Selassie Makes Visit To Town Italians Had Claimed

(Copyright, 1935, By International News Service)

ADDIS ABABA, Nov. 22.—Emperor Haile Selassie on his secret airplane trip to the southern front this week visited the town of Sasa Baneh, thereby refuting claims it had been occupied by the Italians, he revealed in an interview today.

Presenting the first official summary of his trip to the front and reporting his warriors had high morale and are eager to fight, the negus declared the present Italian line on the southern front was more than 100 miles south of the positions claimed by the invaders.

This line runs approximately east and west about 200 miles west of the Italian Somaliland border. Gorrahei, the western end, is more than 100 miles south of Sasa Baneh, to which the Italians reported they had progressed in a northward drive.

Doctor's Protest Brings Problem For Secretary Hull

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—Mistreatment of two American doctors and their wives in Paqua by Italian Fascists who mistook them for British today threatened to confront the state department with a perplexing question in connection with the administration's neutrality plans.

That question was whether or not this government had grounds for protesting against the mistreatment of American nationals in Italy or Ethiopia in view of President Roosevelt's neutrality declaration that Americans who entered into any transactions whatever with the belligerents did so at their own risk.

On the one hand it was felt Americans would have no justification for appealing for help if they disregarded the president's warning. But on the other, the president's statement was not regarded as releasing either Italy or Ethiopia from treaty obligations to protect Americans traveling in territory under their jurisdiction.

"The whole WPA program wasn't large enough if you want to stop relief and do things with your money that will leave something of value in the community."
